I can see as I browse through the pages of Social media that many Nationalists are feeling deflated and down with the results of last night.

Well I would like to say to everyone ‘put a smile on your face’ because last night’s election was never going to present us with any kind of electoral breakthrough, but as we sit down and analyze there are many positives we can take from the 2015 General Election.

Before I continue though I would like to congratulate all National Front candidates. Last night you and your teams went into Town Halls across the UK, The National Front went into those Town Halls as the sole representatives of the indigenous people of Great Britain, from the moment you stepped foot in those buildings you could see how all the other parties stood together like a pack of rabid dogs the only people they hate in those Town Halls are the truth tellers of the National Front.
The very fact that our votes were low does not bother me, the fact that you put yourselves forward as candidates and represented the National Front is what fills me with pride.

As I have said before, in the decade before Derek Beackon was elected as the first BNP Councillor on the Isle of Dogs, Nationalist votes were relatively low. Derek was elected just fourteen years after Thatcher's landslide victory, a General Election in which Thatcher certainly stole the patriotic anti immigration vote.

I am not saying that we have to wait fourteen more years, I certainly don’t think we will have to wait that long. David Cameron is certainly no Margaret Thatcher and he certainly is not banging the ‘British people are frightened of being swamped drum’ after all ‘We already have been swamped!’

Thursday May 7th saw four million vote UKIP on an anti immigration/ anti EU platform, when I say ‘the fraud that is Democracy’ then this is where that fraud is plain to see, four million votes yet only one MP elected!

Many of those that voted for UKIP were Nationalists, many National Front members & supporters voted UKIP in areas where there was no National Front candidate.

In the General Election of five years ago, Nationalist candidates beat UKIP candidates in most places that we stood. Chris Jackson for example contested the same Rochdale seat that I fought on Thursday. In 2010 Chris polled 2236 votes for the National Front about 20 votes short of the 5% needed to retain his deposit, UKIP that year polled 1999 votes. This year UKIP polled 8519 votes while I polled 433.

In 2010 the UKIP candidate was a White chap, this year of course the candidate was a Pakistani, one Masoud Mohamed. In my opinion this was a kick in the teeth of the indigenous Brits of the town yet many still voted for him foolishly believing that this party really will curb immigration.

So what now for UKIP?

Their leader Nigel Farage failed to get elected in South Thanet and has since resigned as the party leader, love him or hate him Farage was the figure head of UKIP and is there really anyone to take his place? After all Farage was a stockbroker friend of the Bankers in the City and just before the election Farage was endorsed by and given a cheque for £1.3 million from Richard Desmond the Jewish owner of the Daily Express.

Will UKIP still get the same level of support and publicity now their media darling Nigel Farage has resigned?

There is of course every chance that Farage will get re-elected as party leader if things get desperate for UKIP and also Farage is still a UKIP MEP.

UKIP emerged onto the UK Political arena as an anti EU pressure party, at the time of their arrival the BNP was riding high on the crest of a wave, mainly known as an anti immigration party but also supposedly an anti EU party although they were quite happy to contest EU elections and eventually got two MEP’s elected. The BNP’s reasoning was that they would eventually break the EU from within; my opinion is that to be part of the EU Parliament and to take the shackle that comes with it is in effect endorsing the EU.

On Thursday night the Conservatives emerged victorious with a majority Government, now if they deliver their promise this could be the much needed nail in the coffin of UKIP.

The Conservatives have promised a referendum on Europe in 2017, all be it we all know it will be a rigged referendum just as the referendum on the Common Market was, but never the less this is UKIP’s reasoning for existence, after all can they survive as an anti immigration party once the referendum is out of the way?

Well the very fact that UKIP stood 77 Black and Asian candidates in this General Election should make it very clear that UKIP are not an immigration Party.

I have heard white people foolishly say that Muslims in Rochdale are voting UKIP because they are fed up with immigration! What planet are these people that say such nonsense living on? Yes they may be fed up with EU migrants dipping into the benefit pool but they don’t think twice about immigration when it comes to sending their sons & daughters over to Pakistan to bring back a husband or a wife and the rest of their families. They don’t think twice when it comes to welcoming Somalia & Nigerian Muslim immigrants into their large purpose built Mosques, places that are built to accommodate new Muslim arrivals.

I believe that over the course of the next few years UKIP will dwindle in numbers and voter popularity, the things they campaign on are just a mirror image of National Front policies (all be it a watered down version).

The National Front will however still be here with our same policies; we will in the meantime have many by-elections to fight as many of those elected on Thursday particularly as local Councillors will resign. In the meantime we need to start gearing up for the 2016 Elections, not only will we have local Government elections to contest, we also have Scottish, Welsh & London Assembly Elections to contest and I know that our people in Scotland & Wales are very keen to take part in these Elections and hopefully we will also have one or two candidates in our Capital City.

Now is also a good time for our members to choose their target wards for the local elections of 2016 and take a leaf out of Chris Jackson’s book and start producing local newsletters and start delivering them door to door in your wards, you have 12 months to build up local voter support on local issues.

We will also continue to build up our street presence although the emphasis needs to be on the National Front and not on other organisations, our demos need to have both a purpose and also to offer the indigenous people of the towns & Cities that we visit a solution to the status quo, this is of course where we differ from these other rebel rousing organisations, as a Political Party we can rebel rouse but we can also offer the solution needed to win back our country.

So just to sum up the 2015 General Election:

The Scottish National Party poll 2 million votes and get over 50 MP’s elected.

UKIP poll double the amount of votes 4 million and get just one MP elected.

It was a disastrous night for both the Lib Dems and Labour.

The leaders of UKIP, Labour and the Lib Dems all resigned.

Cameron emerged victorious and smug, the country now has another 5 years of Tory rule only this time there is no Tory/ Lib Dem coalition, this time the Conservatives have a majority, they have a 5 year mandate to implement disastrous policies on our country and the indigenous people.

During these 5 years we may see a return of the left taking to the streets to campaign against Tory cuts just as they did when Thatcher had a majority Government when Maggie was destroying British institutions and our manufacturing industry.

As I said at the start of this article, some of our members seemed disheartened with our election results.

We all know that for things to get better and the way we Nationalists want things to be then things will have to get a damn site worse. So let us all, fellow Nationalists, seize this opportunity of five years of Tory rule to build our Movement; to build our National Front, and to capitalise on the coming disaster of the next 5 years.

Cameron Gets an Unexpected Majority

After weeks of being told by opinion polls that the 2015 General Election was too close to call, we get an exit poll on the day, indicating a win for David Cameron’s Tory Party. What followed was even more of a surprise, they actually increased their number of seats from 2010, and on 51%, they have a majority. Then one by one, Miliband, Clegg, and Farage, all resigned as leaders of their respective parties. Meanwhile in Scotland the ultra left wing Scottish National Party, (SNP), more or less swept the boards.

We were all aware of what might happen in Scotland, the SNP were a certainty to win there ever since the close “No” vote in the independence referendum. But what happened down here in England? Why would an electorate that had endured five years of harsh austerity measures, vote for another five years of the same?

The rise of the United Kingdom Independent Party, UKIP, is something that had been expected to take away vital support for the Tories, narrowing the gap between them and Labour.

Then we get headlines in the Sun and Daily Mail newspapers, proclaiming that a vote for UKIP would be a vote for Labour, and offering advice on tactical “voting.” Suddenly an exit poll is produced, stating quite comprehensively, that the Tories were going to win. They did not, however, predict a majority.

The Sun and the Mail are both “right of centre” influenced newspapers, but neither are funded by readers or politicians alone. Big business has a major influence, as the owners and investors of the British press are all businessmen and big players in the City Stock Exchange markets. To them even the prediction of a Labour government means losing money, as share prices take a dive.

The 2015 General Election in England, was won by the Tories, but it was the London City bigwigs who were the real winners. Just like in 1992, when after the polls had predicted a close run thing, with perhaps a narrow lead for Neil Kinnocks Labour Party, the Tories won outright. This after the Sun newspaper ran the headline, “If Kinnock Wins Today Will the Last Person to Leave Britain Please Turn out the Lights?”

A lot of people will be relieved that a left wing Labour has been thwarted yet again, when they looked at least likely to force a minority government to look for alliances. But the so called “swing voters,” people who had trouble making up their minds who to vote for, have once more been influenced by the tabloid headlines, which had been profoundly influenced by fat cat bosses in big business.

I hate to say it, but nobody stood a chance, those who believe the election was rigged, might well have a point.

THE FUTURE WHITE NATIONALIST MOVEMENT

Now that commonsense has come back to the British Nationalist scene and the failed attempt at Populism and opportunism have led to what I always said they would - complete and utter destruction of any Party or Group which tries to find this cloak of ‘respectability’.

British Nationalists must start to follow once again the real path of White Nationalism and I believe that the National Front is the vehicle which is the correct platform for British White Nationalism.

At a time when we are facing White Racial Genocide, we have NO room for a multiplicity of parties and groups (some of whom have sadly not learnt one thing from the debacle of the last 12 years, and are once again weakly banging the Populist, Democratic, 'Respectability' drum).

All of our efforts must pour into one Movement and one Movement only, the longest surviving White Nationalist Party which Britain has ever had. You, my readers and friends must join together in one final desperate effort to fight and win this battle against the World Enemy which is set on a path to destroy all Races and all Nations!

What has been lost? What we must bring back to the policy front...

(I must stress that these are suggestions from myself and are not always official NF policy)

On the policy side, I believe that the following policies must be drummed into every new member, especially the younger ones who are now coming to us by the score.......

- The need for both stopping immigration and instituting a humane policy of repatriation.
- An immediate and total stop to all non-White immigration.
- The reintroduction of a law making homosexuality illegal again.
- An unequivocal stance on Israel – Britain must rescind its acknowledgement of the existence of this bandit state and stand by its promise that it is returned to the Palestinians.
- Support for historical revisionism. The encouragement of the quest for truth in history, which is currently, as with the Holocaust Propaganda Machine, being used to attack and undermine White Nationalism.
- A radical economic policy based on Patriotic Socialism – not to be confused with International Socialism.

What we must do on the propaganda front...

The prioritising of the campaign for Free Speech and the abolition of the Race and Public Order laws so that we can speak the truth once again on all matters pertaining to race and immigration.
Production of stickers and posters as an important part of our propaganda campaign – easily distributable, they are a proven and inexpensive method of getting public attention.

Work towards a weekly newspaper rather than a monthly, so that we can get the most up to date message of White Nationalism onto the streets.

We also have the power of the Internet which we must utilise to the full.

The move which we are already seeing of a return to street politics including demos, public meetings and marches – which even when they are banned, generate masses of publicity.

A continued campaign to smash the unofficial ban on White Nationalists speaking in public at such places as Trafalgar Square and other important platforms. Regular meetings there would give us national attention. Every red and ethnic group is allowed at Britain’s premier speaking place – but no White Nationalist ones.

Those who say that marches are counter-productive, as are confrontations with the Reds and Zionists have either never been on one, or are new to the Movement and do not know the great psychological impact a march can have. Marches however, if reintroduced are only effective if they show strength and discipline.

A drive for TOTAL National Unity. The building of a movement – a broad church that embraces the various shades of British Nationalism.

A total ruthlessness towards groups which sap our strength by poaching members only to lead them up blind paths. Our motto must be - WITH US AND ONLY US!

The National Front is committed to achieving the unification of all true and decent White Nationalist men and women under one banner.

Now we must past petty differences to one side, and be prepared to work alongside other Comrades who are doing the same.

To achieve one thing and one thing only - the construction of a MASS MOVEMENT of our people to bring down by all legal manners possible the deadly ZOG State which is squeezing the lifeblood from our Race.

With the NF and only the NF!

Britain will be 'Forced' by Brussels to Accept Mediterranean Migrants

The plan, driven by Jean-Claude Juncker, head of the European Commission, is “practically seen as a declaration of war”, senior EU official says.

Every country within the EU could be forced to accept a quota of refugees under highly controversial plans to be unveiled by Brussels this week.

Britain said it would refuse to accept the proposal by the European Commission to share the refugees and asylum seekers – who have arrived in their thousands in southern Italy in recent months – among the EU’s 28 member states.

The plan, driven by Jean-Claude Juncker, head of the European Commission, is “practically seen as a declaration of war”, one senior EU official said.

According to the draft, seen by Italian media ahead of its unveiling on Wednesday, “the EU needs a permanent system for sharing the responsibility for large numbers of refugees and asylum seekers among member states”.

It is thought Mr Juncker will propose a quota of 20,000 refugees to be distributed evenly across the EU according to the country’s population, GDP and unemployment level, as well as its track record as a host for asylum seekers.

The proposals are likely to create deep divisions across the EU and will face stiff opposition from governments who want the system to be voluntary.

“Juncker wants a required quota of refugees, but this is practically seen as a declaration of war by certain member states,” a top European official told AFP.
Theresa May, the Home Secretary, said last week that “any decisions [on asylum] should be on a voluntary basis”.

She said that “many will have paid organised crime groups to get them through [the Mediterranean]” and that “if we are really going to stop the people putting their lives in danger by crossing the Med, we need to stop them starting their journey in the first place.”

The long-awaited European Agenda on Migration has strong support from Italy, Austria and Germany, which, together with Sweden, takes almost half of asylum seekers in the EU. However, Britain, Slovakia, Hungary and Ireland oppose the plan – which will need approval from all 28 EU governments before it can be implemented.

“It is a mad idea for someone to let refugees into their own country instead of defending their borders and then to say I will redistribute them among you,” Hungarian Prime Minister Viktor Orban told a public radio station on Friday. “This is an unfair and indecent proposal. We therefore cannot support it.”

The proposal says “emergency mechanisms” could be invoked by the end of the month to ensure all EU countries share “persons in clear need of international protection”. Asylum applications in the EU jumped by 44 per cent in 2014 to 626,000, according to EU statistics agency Eurostat. More than 200,000, or one in three, were registered in Germany, followed by Sweden with 81,200 and Italy with 64,600.

Sergio Mattarella, President of Italy, accused countries opposing the plan of “selfishness”. Rome had hoped that the EU plan would force member states to take economic migrants as well as asylum seekers. Separately, the EU will seek to obtain a UN mandate today for armed action in Libya's sovereign waters to stem people-trafficking operations.

Just as it seemed that things couldn't get any worse, the EU come up with an idea that will be catastrophic for Europe, and Britain in particular.

Any quota of Libyan refugees arriving here to claim free housing, free benefits, and free health care, will be disastrous. They will cost a fortune in money we simply haven't got. Not to mention the difference it will make to the demographics of whichever “lucky” towns and cities get lumbered with them.
