Germans Using New War Weapon

PARIS, Dec. 13—(AP)—As the Allied armies ground out new gains on the western front today, the Germans were disclosed to have thrown a new "device" into the war—mysterious silvery balls which float in the air.

Pilots report seeing these objects, both individually and in clusters, during forays over Germany. Purpose of the floaters was not immediately evident. It is possible they represent a new anti-aircraft defence instrument or weapon.

Odd Silvery Balls

NEW NAZI DEFENCE

Paris, Dec. 13—As the Allied armies ground out new gains on the western front today, the Germans were disclosed to have thrown a new "device" into the war—mysterious silvery balls which float in the air.

Pilots report seeing these objects, both individually and in clusters, during forays over Germany. Purpose of the floaters was not immediately evident. It is possible they represent a new anti-aircraft defence instrument or weapon.

New German V-Weapon Hits Western Front

WITH the U.S. 9th Army in Germany, Dec. 18—The Germans have launched a new "V" weapon on the western front and are bombarding rear areas with it by night and day.

The dispatch gave no details concerning the weapon.

The Germans have used both their V-1 and V-2 weapons—the robot bomb and the "telegraph pole" rocket bomb—against troops and areas behind the front.

Supreme headquarters in Paris last week said pilots reported seeing clusters of "silver balls" over Germany, but gave no other information. It was speculated the silver balls might be a new anti-aircraft defence, or designed to interfere with Allied radio communication.

BERLIN'S DEVICE FUTILE
Silver Spheres Above City Have No Effect, Capital Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 — No "detectable effects" have been noted from the mysterious "silver balls" that, American pilots recently reported, were floating over Berlin, an official Army Air Forces spokesman said today.

The objects were described as silver, or silver-covered, but the AAF has not been notified whether they are metal, the spokesman said. He added that the descriptions had been contained in newspaper reports and that headquarters here had had no reports from the theater.

New Weapon Used Against Allied Aircraft

A U.S. Night Fighter Base, France, Jan. 2 — The enemy has thrown something new into the night skies over Germany—the weird, mysterious "Fire-Ball," balls of fire which race alongside the wings of Allied Beaufighters flying intruder missions over Germany. The balls of fire appear suddenly and accompany the planes for miles. They appear to be radio-controlled and manage to keep up with planes flying 300 miles an hour.

Balls of Fire Stalk U. S. Fighters In Night Assaults Over Germany

American Night Fighter Base, France, Jan. 1 — The Germans have thrown something new into the night skies over Germany—the weird, mysterious "fireball," balls of fire that race alongside the wings of American Beaufighters flying intruder missions over the Reich.

American pilots have been encountering the eerie "fireball" for more than a month in their night flights. No one apparently knows exactly what this sky weapon is.

The balls of fire appear suddenly and accompany the planes for miles. They appear to be radio-controlled from the ground and keep up with planes flying 300 miles an hour, official intelligence reports reveal.

"There are three kinds of these lights we call 'fire-balls,'" Lt. Donald Meiers of Chicago said. "One is red balls of fire which appear off our wing tips and fly along with us; the second is a vertical row of three balls of fire which fly in front of us, and the third is a group of about fifteen lights which appear off in the distance—like a Christmas tree up in the air—and flicker on and off."

The pilots of this night-fighter squadron—in operation since September, 1943—find these fiery balls the weirdest thing that they have yet encountered. They are convinced that the "fire-ball" is designed to be a psychological as well as a military weapon, although it is not the nature of the fire-balls to attack planes.

"A 'fireball' picked me up recently at 700 feet and chased me."

Fire-balls Stalk Planes Over Reich

Fifteen miles down the Rhine Valley, I turned to starboard and two balls of fire turned with me. I turned to the port side and they turned with me. We were going 300 miles per hour and the balls were keeping right up with us.

"On another occasion when a 'fireball' picked us up, I dove at 360 miles per hour. It kept right off my wing tips for a while and then zoomed up into the sky."

"When I first saw the things off my wing tips, I had the horrible thought that a German on the ground was ready to press a button and explode them. But they don't explode or attack us. They just seem to follow us like will-o'-the-wisp.

[An Associated Press report from Paris on Dec. 13 said that the Germans had thrown silvery balls into the air against night raiders. Pilots then reported that they had seen these objects, both individually and in clusters, during forays over Germany.]

Lt. Wallace Gould of Silver Creek, N. Y., said that the lights had followed his wing tips for a while and then, in a few seconds, zoomed 20,000 feet into the air out of sight. Lt. Edward Schlater of Ashland, Ohio, said that he had seen the "fire-ball" on two occasions and it "looked like shooting stars." In his first experience with them, Lieutenant Gould said, "I thought it was some new form of jet-propulsion plane after us. But we were very close to them and none of us saw any structure on the light balls."
MORE REPORTS ON FLYING SAUCERS

PORTLAND, ORE. (AP) — Westerners were seeing "flying saucers" almost everywhere today—from Canada to Texas—and a red-hot controversy raged about it all.

Kenneth Arnold, Boise, Idaho, flying businessmen, started it by reporting that he saw nine mystery objects zipping over western Washington last Tuesday at what he estimated was 1,200-miles-an-hour speed.

Experts dismissed his report with statements that no known aircraft could go that fast and that no guided missile tests were being made in that part of the west.

Hardly were the world out of their mouths, when others began reporting "flying saucers" and the controversy was on.

There was a similarity in all reports—the objects were round like a saucer, travelling south at a high rate of speed with little or no noise, and of such brightness that reflections from the sun were "almost blinding."

Three persons in El Paso, Texas, said they had seen them in the last few days. Two persons in Vancouver, B.C., reported some. The latest of a score of reports in the Pacific northwest came from a Seaside, Ore., woman, who said she saw one before sunset Saturday night.

There were two popular theories—that the objects were experimental airplanes or guided missiles to which the "armed forces will not admit, or that they were guided missiles from foreign soil."

More "Flying Saucers" Seen; Plane Crew Sees Whole Flight

PORTLAND, Ore., July 5—(AP) — The "Flying Saucer" mystery reached fever pitch today, after "I saw them myself" statements from a veteran United Air Lines crew, scores of Portland residents, and 60 picknickers at Twin Falls Park in Idaho.

The pilot, co-pilot and stewardess, who had scoffed consistently as "Flying Saucer" tales, said they saw such objects last night while flying a passenger plane from Boise, Idaho, to Portland.

Their statements followed a day during which the "Saucers" were reported seen in many parts of the United States and also in Canada.

Many Portlanders, including police, experienced fliers, and three newspaper men, declared they saw silvery discs undulating over Portland.

Describing what they saw as flat, translucent plates 12 to 15 inches in diameter, several Port Huron, Mich., residents reported seeing the "saucers" near Sarnia.

Farmers in Prince Edward Island claimed to have seen more of the mysterious discs and earlier this week four Summerside residents reported seeing one of them.

At Seattle, Frank Ryman, Coast Guard yeoman, said he took a picture of what some residents north of Seattle thought was a flying disc. The photograph showed a pinhead-size light spot against the dark evening sky.

Dr. M. K. Leisy, a junior intern at the Pennsylvania hospital for mental diseases, and persons in Western Philadelphia, reported seeing strange craft in the skies last night.

"It was something round with a luminous halo about it," Dr. Leisy declared. "It was not shiny itself, but dark in color and seemed to be propelled by whirling winds."

Describes Discs

PORT HURON, Mich., July 5—(AP) — Mysterious "flying saucers" were sighted last night by several residents southwest of Port Huron, who described them as flat and translucent, 12 to 15 inches in diameter criss-crossing the sky and moving northward.

"They definitely were not fireworks," said one witness.

Mrs. John H. Warner declared "some of them moved slowly and others sailed out of the horizon, hesitated and then whizzed on.

Lights which shone from them occasionally blinked off."

"This was the first time the "flying saucers" had been reported over the Michigan area."

Port Huron is across the St. Clair River from Sarnia.
CONTINENT IS EXCITED BY MYSTERY

Portland, Ore., July 5—(AP)—The "flying saucer" mystery reached fever pitch today, after "I saw them myself" statements from a veteran United Air Lines crew, scores of Portland residents, and 60 picnickers at a park in Idaho.

"DEFINITELY NOT FIRECRACKERS"
Port Huron, Mich., July 5—(AP)—Mysterious "flying saucers" were sighted last night by several residents southwest of Port Huron, who described them as fat and translucent, 12 to 15 inches in diameter, criss-crossing the sky and moving northward.

"They definitely were not firecrackers," said one witness.

Mrs. John R. Warner declared "Some of them moved slowly and others sailed out of the horizon, hesitated and then whizzed on. Lights that shone from them occasionally blinked off."

"SAUCERS" SEEN BY PLANE CREW
Boise, Idaho, July 5—(AP)—The entire crew of a westbound Boise-to-Seattle United Air Lines plane last night reported they had seen nine flying discs near the airline's route over Emmett, Idaho.

(The incident was one of several reported last night from various parts of the United States saying the flying objects had been seen. In Seattle a United States coast guardman said he photographed one of them at Port Huron, Mich., several of the mysterious flying objects were reported seen. Two policemen in Portland, Ore., also reported seeing the discs and a New Orleans saleswoman said she saw one.)

Capt. E. J. Smith said his co-pilot, first officer Ralph Stevens, blinked the transport's landing lights in the belief the discs were other aircraft.

Smith said it was eight minutes after takeoff from Boise that Stevens and himself saw discs, flying what appeared to be a "loose formation."

BOISE, IDAHO—(AP)—The entire crew of a westbound Boise-to-Seattle United Air Lines plane late last night reported they had seen nine flying discs near the airline’s route over Emmett, Idaho.

In Seattle a United States coast guardsman said he photographed one of them and at Port Huron, Mich., several of the mysterious flying objects were reported seen. Capt. E. J. Smith said his copilot, First Officer Ralph Stevens, blinked the transport’s landing lights in the belief the discs were other aircraft.

Smith said it was eight minutes after takeoff from Boise that Stevens and himself saw discs, flying at what appeared to be a “loose formation.”

They called Marty Morrow, stewardess, to the cockpit to verify that they were actually seeing the discs, said Smith, and she agreed they saw them.

Then they saw four more of the discs: Three clustered together, and a fourth flying “by itself, way off in the distance.”

The plane was flying into the dim twilight sky when the objects were first sighted.

Flying discs have been reported over the northwest for the last two weeks.

“The discs were flat and roundish,” they said. “They definitely were not aircraft. But they were bigger than aircraft.”

Smith and Stevens said they had the object under observation for from “10 to 15 minutes” before they disappeared.
Military Planes Hunt Sky Discs With Cameras in Vain on Coast

By The Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6—Military aircraft hunted the skies over Pacific Coast states today for sight of the mysterious "flying saucers" that for twelve days have puzzled the entire country. Early reports of results were negative.

Five P-51's of the Oregon National Guard cruised over the Cascade Mountains of Washington—the area where the strange objects first were reported sighted. A sixth circled over Portland, in constant radio contact with the other five. All carried photographic equipment.

Col. G. R. Dodson, commanding, described their flight as a "routine patrol," but said they had been instructed to watch for the flying discs.

At Manhattan Beach, Calif., A. W. McKelvey took a Mustang fighter plane up above Van Nuys. For two hours he cruised at 35,000 feet.

"I didn't see a thing," he said when he landed.

Gen. Carl Spaatz, commandant of the Army Air Forces, was in the Pacific Northwest. He denied knowing anything about the flying discs or of plans to use AAF planes to look for them.

"I've been out of touch with things for four or five days," he said. Then he went to Medford, Ore., on a fishing trip.

A P-80 jet fighter at Muroc Army Air Field in California and six fast regular fighters at Portland, Ore., stood ready to take off on an instant's notice should any flying saucers be sighted in those areas. Some of the planes carried photographic equipment.

First sighted on June 25 and greeted generally with scornful laughs, the objects have been reported every day since by observers in thirty-three states. Airline pilots said they had seen the discs, larger than aircraft, flying in "loose formation" at high speed.

A cautious attitude marked both official and scientific comments.

but Capt. Tom Brown of the Air Forces Public Relations staff in Washington acknowledged that the Air Forces had decided "there's something to this" and had been checking up on it for ten days.

Missile Theory Discounted

"We still haven't the slightest idea what they (the discs) could be," he added. "But we don't believe anyone in this country, or outside this country, has developed a guided missile that will go 1,200 miles an hour as some reports have indicated."

David Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said that the discs had nothing to do with atomic experiments, and Army and Navy officials also entered positive disclaimers.

Commenting on a report linking the phenomena with "transmutation of atomic energy," Dr. Harold Urey, atom scientist at the University of Chicago, called it "jiberish." He said that elements could be "transmuted" but not energy.

Details of the Descriptions

Reports generally agreed that the flying objects were round or oval. Estimates of their speed ranged from about 300 miles to 1,200 miles an hour. They were described as flying with an undulating motion at heights of 10,000 feet and less. Some described them as glowing, or luminous.

Nova Hart, a St. Louis mechanic who was trained during service in the war to spot all types of aircraft, said he saw one of the strange objects near Pattonville yesterday. It was flying at an altitude of 500 feet, he said.

He described it as circular, with a ribbed framework and silver gray in color. He said it appeared to have a motor with a propeller attached in the center and it kept turning like an airplane doing a roll.

First reports of the phenomena were published on June 25. Kenneth Arnold, a business man pilot of Boise, Idaho, told of seeing nine of the discs flying in formation at 1,200 miles an hour over the Cascade Mountains in Washington.

"Washtubs" Fall, and Vanish

SPOKANE, Wash., July 6 (AP)—Eight flying saucers, described as "more like washtubs" and each "about the size of a five-room house," were reported today by Mrs. Walter Johnson of suburban Dishman as having fallen in view of ten persons Thursday evening near St. Maries, Idaho. They flut-tered down into the timber," she said, and vanished.

Two Visitations in Jersey

New Jersey had its first reports of sky discs yesterday, according to the Associated Press. Patrolman Frederick Schlauch of the Elizabeth police told of seeing two shiny objects flying northeast last night, not very fast but diving in a fluttering fashion like pursuit planes." Mrs. Harold Doner of Denver, visiting in Essex Fells, and Mrs. Leonora Woodruff of 384 South Arlington Street, East Orange, reported "balls of fire darting silently at high speed through the air" about 1 A.M. Friday.

The first flying disc in New York was reported in Rochester last night by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ohley, who were in their back yard when they observed it "zipping" eastward.

In Washington, D.C., Hazen Kennedy, a former flying cadet of the Army Air Forces, reported seeing at 8:40 last night an orange-colored object flying 1,000 to 1,500 feet aloft "well over 1,000 miles an hour." Maj. Gen. C. E. LeMay, assistant chief of staff for research, told the Associated Press that the phenomena were "nothing to worry about" and Dr. Winfred Overholser, the psychiatrist, said that some of the reports bore earmarks of "national hysteria.

Meanwhile, other versions over the country were reported by The United Press. A woman in Chicago standing on her porch said she saw a flying saucer "with legs" that seemed to be coming down "to slap me in the face." Two women in South Bend, Ind., recounted watching a "dazzling" array of discs for twenty-five minutes. And Francis Howell of Tempe, Ariz., declared he saw a saucer two feet in diameter "ascend" near his home.

National Guard Airman Killed While Chasing 'Flying Saucers'

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 8 (AP) — Several areas of Kentucky and adjoining states were excited today over reports of "flying saucers" which led to the death of one National Guard flier and fruitless chases by several other pilots.

The National Guard headquarters at Louisville said Capt. Thomas Mantell, 25, was killed late Wednesday while chasing what was reported as a "flying saucer" near Franklin, Ky.

Two other members of the Kentucky National Guard, also assigned to a flying investigation of reported "flying disks" in the area near Fort Knox, returned to their Louisville base.

Two Hopkinsville pilots, James Garret and William Crenshaw, said they chased a flying object which they believed to be a balloon.

In Southern Ohio, meanwhile, observers reported seeing a flaming red cone near the army air base at Wilmington. Army spokesmen said they had no information on the object or its origin.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 8 (AP) — Several areas of Kentucky and adjoining states were excited today over reports of "flying saucers" which led to the death of one National Guard flier and fruitless chases by several other pilots.

The National Guard headquarters at Louisville said Capt. Thomas Mantell, 25 years old, was killed late yesterday while chasing what was reported as a "flying saucer" near Franklin, Ky.

Two other members of the Kentucky National Guard, also assigned to a flying investigation of reported "flying disks" in the area near Fort Knox, returned to their Louisville base.

Two Hopkinsville pilots, James Garret and William Crenshaw, said they chased a flying object which they believed to be a balloon.

Astronomers at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., reported that they saw some object in the sky yesterday afternoon which they believed to be a balloon, but the Weather Bureau at Nashville said it knew of no balloons in that vicinity.

In Southern Ohio, meanwhile, observers reported seeing a flaming red cone near the Army Air Base at Wilmington. Army spokesmen said they had no information on the object or its origin.

Col. Guy F. Hix, commanding officer at Godman Field, adjoining Fort Knox, said he observed the "flying saucer" for some time. He said contact was made by radio with three National Guard planes and the pilots were asked to investigate.

"We lost contact in about twenty minutes," Colonel Hix said. "Two of the planes later called back and reported no success."

Captain Mantell, an air hero during the Allied invasion of Normandy, was the third pilot. His mother, Mrs. Thomas F. Mantell Sr., said in Louisville she was informed that her son flew too high in pursuit of the object and lost consciousness.

Glenn Mayes, who lives near Franklin, said he saw the Mantell plane flying at an extremely high altitude just before it seemed to explode in the air.

The plane circled three times, he said, and then started in a dive from about 20,000 feet. About halfway down there was a terrific explosion.

Captain Mantell entered the Army Air Forces soon after his graduation from high school and participated in the Normandy invasion and many other European operations during the war.

Since leaving active duty a year ago, he has been associated with the Kentucky Air National Guard.
Flying Saucers Outdone
By Huge Wingless Aircraft

Atlanta, Ga. July 23 (AP) — A ship, disappeared into the broken clouds. The ship, described Saturday as a "flying saucer," had lassie and followed a fire. The ship, seen from about 50 to 200 miles an hour, was last seen at 0017 EST. The pilot, C. V. S. Childs, and his Civil Aeronautics Administration co-pilot, J. B. Whitted, were reportedly unharmed.

The ship, described as a "flying saucer," was seen by a large crowd of people. The ship was reported to be about 100 feet in length and had a circumferential "ball of fire" at its rear. The ship was said to be moving at about 2,000 miles an hour, heading toward New Orleans.

Airliner Is Hit By "Ball of Fire"

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 23 (AP) — A British European Airways plane which returned from London last night said their aircraft was hit by a ball of fire in the air. The crew members said they saw the flaming sphere hurtling towards them. The plane then fell out of the sky. The passengers did not feel a bump. The plane is being repaired before taking off again.
MYSTERIOUS ‘IT’ SPURTS FLAME ON U.S. TRAVELS

Atlanta: July 26 (AP) — The flying saucer — or something — is back again. Reports from widely-separated sections of the country have described “it” during the week-end as:

1. A wingless craft, spurring flame “like a Buck Rogers rocket ship.”
3. An unusually-bright light.
4. A ball of fire.
5. A red and blue flame that burst in mid-air.
6. A flash of cherry-red fire.
7. A meteor.

“It” first was reported by two Eastern Airlines pilots, each a fighter pilot during the war, who said they encountered a wingless mystery plane, spurring fire, near Montgomery, Ala.

Clarence L. McKelvie of Columbus, Ohio, lent credence to the pilots’ report by declaring he had seen “a flash of cherry-red fire” while a passenger on the plane.

“It” was an aluminum-covered balloon to observers at Yakima, Wash., where the police station switchboard was jammed with excited calls and inquiries.

It was this way last year when someone said he had seen a flying saucer whizzing around. Right away, dozens of persons said they had seen the same thing — or something.

The United States Army, as usual, denied any responsibility.

MYSTERY LIGHT HIGH IN SKIES ELUDES PLANES

Hamlet, N.C., Dec. 30 (AP) — A mysterious object moving southward through the sky had scores of Carolinians agog today.

The object, on which descriptions varied, was first spotted at Fayetteville, about 50 miles northeast of Hamlet at about 4:30 p.m.

It was sighted again over Hamlet at about 4:45 p.m. and reports came from Greenwood, S.C., that the mysterious object passed westward over that city shortly after 5 p.m.

(Greenwood is about 180 miles southwest of Hamlet.)

At Hamlet and Greenwood, it was chased for several minutes by four pilots.

Hamlet observers said it resembled a balloon or blimp, and appeared to be about 20 or 30-feet in diameter. At Fayetteville, one observer said it looked more like a vertical neon lighting tube.

At Greenwood, two pilots said it appeared to be a streak of smoke about 15 or 20 feet long coming from an unseen plane. But the object, the pilots said, retained its shape during the 15 or 15 minutes that they followed it.

They were unable to gain on it in their light planes.

Flying Saucers Seen Over Africa

LONDON (Reuters) — Flying saucers, variously described as full moons, moons with wakes of fire, or strange bodies emitting smoke trails, have been reported skittering in all directions across the heavens above the Mediterranean.

In Haifa today, reports circulated that they had been seen over northern Israel.

A Lebanese pilot said he had seen them over Acre—travelling at a high speed in a westerly direction. Others described them as “discs travelling northwards at a great altitude and emitting a smoke trail.”

Italy reported that they had been sighted over various parts of the country five times Tuesday.

Saucers were also observed Tuesday at Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital; at Santiago de Chile, over Nicoya Airport, Cyprus; other Bogota Medellin and Cali, all in western Colombia; and at the northern Caribbean port of Barranquilla.

DULL RED GLOW POSSESSED BY LATEST 'SAUCER'

Chicago, April 28 (AP) — A Transworld Airlines pilot Thursday night reported seeing a “round mass” which “glowed a dull red like hot steel” as it cruised about a half-mile from his Chicago-bound plane.

“I used to laugh at all those flying saucer reports but it’s no laughing matter now,” said Capt. Robert Adickes. “I saw one.”

Adickes said the object, “20 to 30 feet in diameter,” overflew his plane bound from Washington to Chicago near South Bend, Ind. It cruised along a parallel course for eight minutes, Adickes said. The plane was at 2,000 feet.

Adickes said he turned north in an attempt to get closer.

“It picked up speed—300 to 400 miles an hour—and ran out of sight right over South Bend,” the pilot related.

First Officer Robert Manning confirmed Adickes’ account. Adickes said about half the 19 passengers aboard also saw the object.
'Flying Saucer'

LONDON—(Reuters)—A mysterious object was reported seen yesterday at 18,000 to 20,000 feet over Cowes Airport, Isle of Wight. George Wilks, chief engineer at the airport, and Capt. J. Jessop, a former R.A.F. Transport Command pilot, said the object was round, emitted a hard, white light, and travelled at about 2,000 miles an hour.

Two Pilots See Flying Saucers

MIAMI, Fla. (CP)—Two airline pilots reported seeing flying saucers moving at an estimated 1,000 miles an hour over Chesapeake Bay Monday night.

They said eight of the saucers, 100 feet in diameter and about 15 feet thick, glowing like red coals, passed directly beneath their Pan American Airlines plane, wheeled sharply and zoomed out of sight.

First Officer W. Nash, 35, and First Officer W. H. Fortenberry "Watched the manoeuvre" for about 10 seconds.

Nash said they "had definite outlines—there was nothing fuzzy about them...they were brilliant, far more intense than ground lights."

He said the plane was flying at 8,000 feet and the objects passed beneath them at an estimated 2,000 feet, approaching from the southeast over Newport News.

Nash said he had no doubt in his mind they were missiles of some kind operating under intelligent control.

STRANGE ACTION OF METEOR SEEN BY PLANE CREW

DENVER—(AP)—An airliner's crew had a ringside seat for the rare behavior of a meteor which apparently prompted reports of weird rocket ships flashing across Wyoming and Colorado Wednesday night.

Hundreds of reports from the ground followed a definite pattern. Witnesses told of two strange craft scooting southeast along the eastern edge of the Rockies about 3,000 feet above the ground and between 500 and 1,000 miles an hour.

But Capt. H. A. Gurney, piloting a United Airline, believes he and his crew witnessed the incident that caused it all. And, he adds, "if I hadn't seen it from start to finish, I would have been ready to believe anything, too."

The plane's crew saw the meteor as they flew just east of St. George, Utah.

"A giant meteorite—or meteor—flashed by us, travelling east and a bit south," Gurney related. "It was white-hot, shaped something like a football. The tail was almost as hot, coming out from behind like a "T."

"When it was about 150 miles ahead of us, three pieces broke off the head. They turned from white to red to black..."...

They didn't fall. They faded out without seeming to drop.

"Then that white-hot nose blew into two pieces. They turned red. They just kept going in to space, following the curvature of the earth and the whole thing swinging from east to southeast with the orbit of the earth."

Reports from pilots and others who caught glimpses of the display came in all the way from northwestern Colorado.

It was the second meteor report in two nights.

Kentuckians reported Wednesday they had seen a meteor streaking through the early-morning sky. The object, also visible in Tennessee, Indiana and Illinois, was reported to have exploded in the air.
60 ‘Saucer’ Reports Fly At Air Force in 2 Weeks

By The United Press.
DAYTON, Ohio, July 17—An Air Force spokesman said today some sixty reports of flying saucers had been received during the last two weeks. He could give no reason for the sudden increase.

Capt. E. J. Ruppelt of the Air Technical Intelligence Center at Wright-Patterson Air Base said “people are seeing unidentified objects in the sky at a rate almost double over last year.”

Captain Ruppelt, project officer for the Air Force group that investigates unidentified aerial objects, said there was no connection between the saucer sighting increase and the recent inauguration of Operation Skywatch by the Ground Observer Corps.

He said his office was requesting more information from two Pan American Airways pilots who reported seeing “eight glowing red-orange disks” flying near Norfolk, Va., last Sunday night. The pilots, W. B. Nashid and W. H. Fortenberry said the objects were traveling at 1,000 miles an hour.

“Lights” Theory Wrong?

RADAR SEES “SAUCERS” IN WASHINGTON SKIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Air Force today investigated reports that several “flying saucers” had been spotted by radar virtually in “its own backyard” on the outskirts of the country’s capital.

Not only were unidentified objects seen on radar by a Air Force, but two airline pilots and a reporter saw eerie lights fitting the general description of flying saucers the same night.

Officials could not immediately agree on whether this was the first time radar has picked up flying saucers. All agreed it was unusual.

The objects were different from the average, reported saucer in that they traveled at a relatively slow speed, as well as later discovering the customary burst that far outspeeds normal planes.

One thing was certain: A thorough investigation is being made by the air technical intelligence center, Wright-Patterson air force base, Dayton, Ohio, which has been set up to look into flying-saucer reports.

The saucers over the capital were reported late Monday, about 36 hours after the incident actually occurred:

One thing was certain: A thorough investigation is being made by the air technical intelligence center, Wright-Patterson air force base, Dayton, Ohio, which has been set up to look into flying-saucer reports.

The saucers over the capital were reported late Monday, about 36 hours after the incident actually occurred:

This is the story, as placed together from air force reports, persons involved, and other sources:

An operator at Washington National Airport spotted eight unidentified images on one of his radars. The images were going probably 100 to 130 miles an hour. That was around midnight.

Capt. C. S. Pianka of Detroit, piloting Capital Airlines flight 807, soon reported seeing seven objects between Washington and Martinsburg, W. Va. He said they changed pace, sometimes moving at tremendous speed, at other times hanging almost motionless.

Another airliner, Capital-American Airlines flight 610, also reported seeing a light following it from Herndon, Va., to within four miles of Washington.

D. L. Pett, an Associated Press reporter, said he saw a “flying saucer” that same night near River Edge, N.J., outside of New York.

SAW “GOLDEN LIGHTS” AT CLEVELAND AIRPORT

CLEVELAND (AP)—A control tower operator said today “golden lights” have been sighted over Cleveland, and on one occasion he saw an airliner to look for something that appeared on a radar screen.

George Baer, senior operator on the night shift of the control tower at Cleveland Hopkins airport, said “one night a of us watched from the darkened, tower room while a light hovered north of the field. We don’t know what it was but all six of us saw it.”

"Another time I personally saw a light making a circular pattern over or nearby Elyria. I picked it up on the radar screen and watched it."

"I saw an incoming airliner over take a look and the thing disappeared from the screen."

On another occasion a tower operator and an incoming pilot both reported seeing a “light” that “climbed and travelled in an easterly direction much faster than the normal operational speed of any aircraft known to be in this vicinity,” said Baer.
Flying Objects Near Washington Spotted by Both Pilots and Radar

Air Force Reveals Reports of Something, Perhaps 'Saucers,' Traveling Slowly But Jumping Up and Down

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP) —
The Air Force disclosed tonight it had received reports of an eerie visitation by unidentified aerial objects—perhaps a new type of "flying saucer"—over the vicinity of the nation's Capital.

For the first time, so far as has been reported, the objects were picked up by radar—indicating actual substance rather than mere light.

In addition, they were described as traveling at a slow 100 to 130 miles per hour, instead of with the incredible swiftness attributed to earlier saucers, although at times they shot up and down. They were also described as hovering in one position.

The Air Force said no planes were sent out to intercept the objects, and no sightings were reported by "Operation Skywatch," the round-the-clock ground-observer operation now underway around the northern arc of the United States.

The Air Force said it had received only a preliminary report and therefore did not know why no attempt at interception had been made.

"They were like falling stars without tails."

Captain Pfeilman, flying at normal cruising speed of 180 to 200 miles per hour, reported that three of the objects, which had the appearance of bright lights, were seen traveling with tremendous speed. No special attention was paid to those, he reported to company officials, because those three could have been taken for falling stars.

Later three bright lights were observed, he reported, flying horizontally, and fast, at a tremendous height. They were watched from three to five seconds.

The pilot said he didn't have the slightest idea what the things were.

The eight objects picked up by Air Force radar were said to have been traveling at slightly more than 100 m. p. h.

The airport traffic control center said another air liner, Capital National Airlines Flight 610, had reported observing a light following it from Herndon, Va., to within four miles of National Airport.

The Air Force spokesman said that neither the center nor headquarters here had yet received reports on sightings said to have been made last Friday in the areas of Burlington, Vt.; South Portland, Me., and Staten Island, N. Y.

Two persons on Staten Island reported seeing saucers at about 10:15 P. M. (E. D. T.), Friday night. The objects, described as silvery in color tinged with red on the rims, were reported flying in the "V" formation of five. Said Mrs. Josephine Hetzel:

"I almost fainted when I looked up at the sky and saw what looked to me like five large dinner plates flying through the sky."

Frank Gondar said he saw them, too, "flying like geese. "They gave off a glow and didn't make a sound," he said.

At about the same hour, three New York residents reported sighting similar objects circling rapidly over Central Park.

Officials of Capital Airlines said the pilot of Flight 807, Capt. "Casey" Pfeilman of Detroit, a veteran of seventeen years' service with the company, had spotted the objects and described them in these words:
Air Force Jet Aircraft Scour Sky For ‘Saucers’ Picked Up on U.S. Radar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radar— which normally doesn’t show something that isn’t there—has picked up “flying saucers” near here for the second time within a week.

Jet fighter pilots searched the skies Saturday night and early yesterday without directly contacting anything during the six hours that four to 12 unidentified objects intermittently appeared on radar screens at Washington National Airport and nearby Andrews Air Force base.

One pilot said he saw four lights approximately 10 miles away and slightly above him but they disappeared before he could overtake them. Later, the same pilot said, he saw “a steady white light” five miles away that vanished in about a minute.

So far as could be determined, this was the first time jets have been sent on the trail of such sky ghosts.

Officials carefully avoided mentioning “flying saucers,” just as they did when radar picked up seven or eight unidentified objects near Washington last Monday. But the U.S. Air Force was expected to add the report to its long list of saucer sightings, which officials say are coming in faster than at any time since the initial flurry in 1947.

An air force spokesman said all necessary steps are being taken to evaluate the newest phenomenon.

Radar normally does not register anything without substance—such as light. But it can pick up such things as a bird in flight or a cloud formation. And one expert said radar is not infallible.
'OBJECTS' OUTSTRIP JETS OVER CAPITAL

Spotted Second Time in Week by Radar, but Interceptors Fail to Make Contact

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 27—The Air Force said today that jet fighter planes had made an effort to intercept unknown objects in the sky over Washington last night after the objects had been spotted by radar, but that no direct contact had been made.

It was the second time within a week that unidentified objects had been observed in the vicinity of the nation's capital, but no planes were sent up on the previous occasion, last Monday.

The Air Force said that at 9:08 o'clock, Eastern daylight time, last night the Air Route Traffic Control Center, operated by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, had picked up by radar "between four and twelve unidentified objects over the Washington vicinity."

The C. A. A. notified the Air Force and two jet fighter-interceptor planes were ordered up to make a check. These planes came from a base at New Castle, Del., about ninety miles from Washington.

The jet planes themselves appeared on the C. A. A. radarscope at 11:25 P. M. and were guided in on several of the unknown objects.

The Air Force said in its statement: "One of the jet pilots reported sighting four lights in front, approximately ten miles and slightly above him, but he reported he had no apparent closing (over-taking) speed. They disappeared before he could overtake them."

The sighting of the unidentified objects in the sky by radar indicated that something with substance was involved, not only light.

Radar, which detects objects by radio, can "pick up" such things as cloud formations.

The Air Route Traffic Control Center made several further attempts through its radar observation of the unidentified objects to guide the jets to a contact. The efforts were unsuccessful, the Air Force said, until about 11:40 P. M., when the same pilot who had reported the first visual contact again reported sighting what he described as "a steady white light." The light disappeared within a matter of one minute, the Air Force said.

The C. A. A. radar operator at the traffic control center, located at the Washington National Airport, calculated the unknown object's position at about ten miles east of Mount Vernon, Va., which is near the airport.

The two jets left the area at 1:40 this morning, but two additional jet aircraft were sent over and they stayed in the vicinity for forty minutes.

The Air Force said that no further contact, either visual or by radar, had been made by the planes, although the "unidentified objects" were still apparent at 2:20 A. M. on the radarscope.

Object Over Iowa Called Planet

IOWA CITY, Iowa, July 27—An astronomer at the State University of Iowa reported today that a spark-shooting object seen in the sky by southeastern Iowans "most likely was the planet Jupiter."

The astronomer, Prof. C. C. Wylie, head of the university's astronomy department, said he had seen the planet about 1:30 A. M. today after having been notified by the Iowa City Police Department.

"I was told they'd had reports of something in the sky," Professor Wylie said, "and what I saw was Jupiter, which at this time of year is quite bright and rises about 1 A. M."

"I assume that some of the other reports referred to Jupiter too, although it is possible some people saw another star or even a meteor."

The Fort Madison police had reports of flying objects that shot off fire and bobbed up and down in circles. A highway patrolman in the Fort Madison area said the object "looked like a star at first" and was shooting off blue and red lights, going in circles.

Professor Wylie said that Jupiter, or any star, when rising above the horizon, would appear to be shooting off multicolored sparks.
Air Force Explains 2-Hour Delay In Chasing 'Objects' Over Capital

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The Air Force said tonight the current series of “flying saucer” reports had brought no change in its twenty-four-hour-a-day program to challenge any unidentified and potentially hostile object in the skies over the United States.

Unidentified objects were spotted on radar screens at the Washington National Airport this weekend, as they had been last Monday.

Reports of the sightings reached the Air Force, and jet fighter-interceptor planes made a search of the Washington area. One pilot reported seeing “lights” that he had not been able to overtake.

An Air Force official tonight said its Air Defense Command had been ready for many months to challenge any unknown object aloft.

Air Force interceptors and pilots started the continuous watch on a limited basis before the start of fighting in Korea, the official noted. At the outset the watch was confined to the areas over key targets. Later, after the hostilities in Korea increased the threat of an all-out war and as more fast-climbing jets became available, the Air Force gradually extended the watch across the northern and the coastal sectors of the nation. The continuous state of readiness now extends to the air space above all areas of the country that contain vital military or industrial installations.

Jet interceptors were sent aloft during the week-end after the radar maintained by the Civil Aeronautics Administration near the Washington National Airport showed objects on its screen that should not have been there.

Actually the jet interceptors did not take off from their base near center.

Newcastle, Del., until nearly two hours after the radar watch at Washington first had seen the unexplained objects on his radar screen.

The Air Force explained today that the delay occurred when the report was sent to an Air Force flight center at Middletown, Pa., instead of through the Air Force command post in the Pentagon.

Air Force officers happened to visit the radar post at the National Airport Saturday night and learned about the mysterious spots on the radar screen. These officers telephoned the command post and the jets took the air at Newcastle within five minutes.

Despite the renewed flurry of excitement about the unidentified objects, the Air Force maintained its stand that it still did not know whether any such thing as a "saucer" existed. For several years, Air Force technical and intelligence experts have methodically studied and filed away all "flying saucer" reports that have been passed on to them.

‘Objects’ Seen Over Tarrytown

SPECIAL TO THE NEW YORK TIMES

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 28—Breaks of light, reportedly similar to those spotted over Washington twice within the last week, were sighted in the sky above this Hudson River village shortly before midnight last night. Eastern Air Defense Force officials are investigating.

The flashes were reported to the Defense Force Filter Center in White Plains by Joseph Pulsoni, post supervisor, and two ground force observers at a spotters' post atop an apartment house here. The report was relayed to an area radar station, according to Maj. F. B. Johnson, commanding the filter center.
RADAR SPOTS 12 OBJECTS—ALL INVISIBLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Radar showed the air over Washington was full of flying objects early Tuesday but an airliner directed to one of the radar sightings could not find a thing.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration radar at Washington National Airport, which reported scores of sightings from 2:30 to 6 a.m. EDT, refrained from transmitting its findings to the air force at nearby Andrews Field because "no visual sightings were made."

The air force said its Andrews Field radar showed nothing.

Meanwhile, the Air Research and Development Command is continuing its upper-air research studies with a new type camera used in determining the source of light from luminous bodies.

A C.A.A. spokesman said the latest sightings showed as many as 12 unidentified objects on the radar screen at one time.

DON'T SHOOT THE SAUCERS, YANK APPEALS TO AIR FORCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The flying saucers have found a friend.

The air force received this telegram yesterday from Cincinnati:

"Urgently request reconsideration of your order to destroy flying saucers."

"Remarkably advanced aerodynamics indicate probable inter-celestial origin. Interference without more cause than saucers' friendly curiosity could cause unbelievable suffering and death."

"People much aroused and alarmed. Respectfully..." Name withheld.

Air force spokesmen said that nobody is going around shooting at strange objects in the sky but that air defence command planes would attempt to destroy any aircraft or objects definitely identified as hostile and dangerous.
These "Saucers" Can't Be Brushed Off

AIRCINES PILOTS SEE THEM AND RADAR CONFIRMS IT ALL

Part One

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The flying saucers are back. And their return to the headlines has been the result of a startling new development.

Winston S. Churchill said, "The flying saucers are back. And their return to the headlines has been the result of a startling new development.

For the first time, numerous and simultaneous visual sightings have been positively confirmed by official Civil Aeronautics Administration radar observations. This has happened twice under almost identical circumstances on two successive Saturday nights.

Up until now official and unofficial saucer debunkers have produced credible theories to explain away reports of visual sightings as natural phenomena. They have done the same for individual radar sighting reports.

But none of this reasoning satisfactorily explains away visual sightings absolutely confirmed by radar.

ALWAYS PILOTS AT an airline saw six "objects" at the same time the CAA radar did.

This remarkable new chapter in the weird flying saucer story was written in the skies over Washington for six hours before dawn on Sunday, July 29, and again one week later. The details and implications of what took place are now confirmed by CAA and the Air Force.

Since then, the Air Force has quietly said it was closing to the press its special section at Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio, which has been studying flying saucer reports. In addition, all information concerning that group's personnel, activities and budget is now strictly classified.

These are the facts:

Beginning shortly after midnight, and continuing until dawn, eight experienced CAA radar operators and technicians, manning the air traffic control center in hanger No. 6 at National Airport, tracked from seven to ten unidentified and mysterious objects performing strange gyrations in the skies in a 30-mile radius above Washington. Harry G. Barnes, who has been with CAA for nine years, mostly times it seemed to hover. We could see it moving around like that for about 15 minutes. It just disappeared into the northwest sky."

There are no windows in the center Barnes was operating. None of the eight men could leave to go outside to try to check their own radar sightings visually.

As is normal at that time air traffic was very light. But at the first opportunity, an operator in Barnes' office contacted Capital Airlines pilot Capt. S. C. Pierman shortly after he took off and asked him to look for the objects.

For about 14 minutes, Pierman was in direct, two-way communication with Barnes. While he was within radar range, Pierman was able to see six objects which showed up on the path indicated by the center's radar. Pierman's sightings reported to Barnes coincided exactly with the radar sightings, Barnes reports.

Pierman was a 17-year veteran of commercial flying and is described by Capital Airlines officials as very level-headed and "incisive." After he landed in Detroit, Pierman had this to say about the sightings:

"It looked like a sphere, so deep orange-colored that it appeared almost the shade of rust. It was silent as death. It was moving too fast and evenly to be a balloon. I saw a flying saucer and you can't convince me that there is no such animal."

He said it disappeared in the direction of Washington.

LARGE RADAR SCOPE — at Washington National Airport presents a picture like this to CAA traffic controllers. Mystery pips were tracked from midnight until dawn on the first night.
Harry G. Barnes, who has been with CAA for nine years, mostly in radar work, was in charge of the group. After making sure that the objects were not known aircraft and that the radar was operating perfectly, he checked his findings with the radar operators in the control tower. They instantly confirmed what he saw, and continued to do so. The two radars are completely separate units.

Later the radar at nearby Andrews Air Force base also confirmed the sightings.

“It was a good-sized light, yellow to orange in color. At first it looked like a great big star. Then it began to move in a manner which made you realize it couldn’t be a star. There was so unusual high speed about its movements and at

KOREA, JAPAN JUMP INTO ACT, SEE SKY SAUCERS

SEOUL—(AP)—Those "flying saucers" have popped up in Korea and Japan.

A Canadian destroyer recently reported sighting two such objects and recorded them on its radar, it was learned here today.

A navy report said officers and crew members of the destroyer Crusader saw the "saucers" the night of July 10. All had the familiar qualities of the puzzling flying discs.

The report, addressed to the commanders of the far east naval forces and the fifth air force, said the ship's radar registered "fixes" on the objects. It placed them two miles high and seven miles away.

The report said the objects disappeared before dawn.

A second report a day or two later dismissed the radar find as the planet Jupiter. One officer commented, however: "Jupiter doesn't come in pairs and it is several million miles out of range of our radar."

"FLYING SAUCER" FLEET FILLS WASHINGTON SKY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The heaviest concentration of unidentified objects yet observed in the skies here—a veritable fleet of "flying saucers"—moved across radar screens early today.

A spokesman at Andrews air force base said the blips were observed late last night, and that early today they were still moving slowly and steadily across the screens.

Planes were directed to intercept the objects, but reported they were unable to see anything.

Radar operators said the objects were moving at about 60 miles an hour from west to east.

FLYING SAUCER ENTERS GIANT N A T O OPERATION

TOPCLIFFE, Eng. (Reuters)—A "flying saucer" entered the eight-country Operation Mainbrace today.

The R. A. F. base here reported to exercise headquarters that an unidentified circular silver object had been sighted 15,000 feet above the airfield.

The object, which appeared five miles behind a jet fighter, maintained a slow forward speed before descending in a swinging pendulum motion. Then it began a rotary motion about its own axis and accelerated at an incredible speed in a westerly direction but later turned southeast.

It was seen by R. A. F. officers and men on the airfield. No one could identify it.

The whole incident lasted between 15 and 20 seconds.

One R. A. F. officer said it might have been a smoke ring caused by one of the jet engines suddenly clearing after a temporary blockade. The ring might have been caught in an air current, and with the sun shining on it it could have looked like a "flying saucer," he said.

As the second week of the two-week Mainbrace manoeuvres opened, nearly 30 ships of an amphibious "Blue" force waited under orders to sail for North Jutland. The ships are carrying U. S. Marines who will make an unopposed assault-landing there to strengthen land forces opposing an imaginary "Orange" invader from the east.
Montreal Air Veteran Sees 'Flying Saucers'

MONTREAL (CP) - Adults might call them flying saucers but children will probably believe it was Santa Claus on a rehearsal visit.

Two adults and a number of children in different parts of the city said they saw "four or five" bright shining objects flitting across the sky Tuesday.

W. F. Garnahm said he was in central Montreal when he saw two young boys looking up at the sky. He looked too, and saw "four shiny objects flashed in and out of sight as they turned in the sunlight."

Garnahm said he has 6,000 flying hours.

"I'm sure they weren't planes."

U.S. Airmen See Strange Flying Discs in Japan

U.S. AIR BASE, Japan (AP) - Mysterious flying objects - "rotating clusters of red, white and green lights" - have been sighted over northern Japan by United States airmen, the air force disclosed today.

Intelligence reports placed the sightings close to Russian territory in the Kurile islands and Sakhalin. They added:

"There are too many indications of the presence of something to be considered an observation of nothing." And they discounted the possibility the sighted objects were "reflections of light."

Curtis H. Low, commander of the northern division of the Japanese air defence force, said the flying clusters were seen by fighter pilots and ground personnel and were tracked on radar.

The reports were similar to those describing "flying saucers" in the U.S. One said the lights appeared to hang motionless at times, and at other times disappeared with blinding speed.

Sightings were made by many persons at many points over northern Japan last Dec. 29. On Jan. 9, a rotating cluster was spotted by two fighter pilots and was tracked on radar.

Russian territory in the Kurile islands is only 4½ miles northeast of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. The Russian island of Sakhalin is only 30 miles north of Hokkaido. The Reds have dozens of air bases on Sakhalin and the Kuriles.

The clusters were seen Dec. 29 by two crew members of an F-80 interceptor for about 40 minutes, by two crew members of a B-26 bomber for five to seven minutes, and by five different airmen on the ground, intelligence said. They were also seen by a pilot who tried to get close to one.

The five ground observers said the objects were circular ferris wheel disc types with rotational red, green, and white lights. Intelligence said the ground observers watched the objects "for varying times, ranging from 30 minutes to three hours."
Spot Mystery “Saucer” Fleet Over Japan Close to Red Isles

U.S. AIR BASE, Japan (AP)—Mysterious flying objects—“rotating clusters of red, white and green lights”—have been sighted over northern Japan by United States airmen, the air force disclosed Wednesday.

Intelligence reports placed the sightings close to Russian territory in the Kurile islands and Sakhalin. They added:

“THERE are too many indications of the presence of something . . . to be considered an observation of nothing.” And they discounted the possibility the sighted objects were mere “reflections of light.”

“SEEN” ON RADAR

Col. Curtis R. Low, commander of the northern division of the Japanese air defence force, said the flying clusters were seen by fighter pilots and ground personnel and were tracked on radar.

The reports were similar to those describing “flying saucers” in the U.S. One said the lights appeared to hang motionless at times, and at other times disappeared with blinding speed.

Sightings were made by many persons at many points over northern Japan last Dec. 29. On Jan. 9, a rotating cluster was spotted by two fighter pilots and was tracked on radar.

RUSSIANS NEARBY

Russian territory in the Kurile islands is only 4½ miles northeast of Hokkaido, Japan’s northernmost island. The Russian island of Sakhalin is only 30 miles north of Hokkaido. The reds have dozens of air bases on Sakhalin and the Kuriles.

The clusters were seen Dec. 29 by two crew members of an F-94 interceptor for about 40 minutes, by two crew members of a B-26 bomber for five to seven minutes, and by five different airmen on the ground. Intelligence said the objects “were circular ferris wheel, disc types with rotational red, green, and white lights.”

Intelligence said the ground observers watched the objects “for varying times, ranging from 30 minutes to three hours.”

The air force said a rotating cluster Jan. 9 near an air base in northern Honshu “was observed visually by a pilot of an F-94 jet interceptor for approximately one minute . . . Radar contact for approximately two minutes was verified by both members of the crew.”
8-Inch "Saucer" Made Pass at Jet

U.S. AIR BASE, Northern Japan (AP)—The U.S. Air Force today reported a small, metallic, disk-shaped object made a controlled, sweeping pass at an American jet fighter-bomber and was observed at very close range by another pilot.

The report, from air force intelligence files, said the sighting was made over northern Japan at 11:20 a.m. on March 29, 1952, by Lieut. David C. Brigham.

It was a bright, cloudless day. Brigham said he had a very good look at the object from about 30 to 50 feet for about 10 seconds.

The pilot described it as "about eight inches in diameter, very thin, round, and as shiny as chromium; had no apparent projections and left no exhaust trails or vapor trails."

He said it caught up with an F-84 Thunderjet, hovered a few moments and then shot out of sight. The F-84 pilot, whose name was not revealed, did not see it. It was the second disclosure in a week by air force intelligence of mysterious flying objects over northern Japan near the Russian-Siberia area.

On Jan. 21, the air force disclosed that "rotating clusters of red, white and green lights" had been sighted over northern Japan by American airmen.

Boss Convinced Saucers No Joke

VANCOUVER (CP)—Flying saucers no longer are a joke to Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent.

Back from Korea, he said in an interview Wednesday that he is impressed with the reports of fighter-bomber pilots telling of flying saucers, disk clusters or whatever they are called.

"I was told of reports from 'seven independent' pilots on the same day, Jan. 9.

"There is more to this than we all thought," he said. "I think the story of the disks was the most significant to come out of Japan."

"The evidence of the pilots, two of whom "locked" with the objects, is too strong to be dismissed."

"One disk kept its distance from the 300-mile-an-hour jet in a straight line and then drew away."

"It must have had a multiple of the speed of sound to do that," said Boss.

The sky clusters were always reported out from the Russian-held island of Sakhalin or the Russian-held mainland.

"Possibly it is significant that saucer stories always appear over Western places of strategic interest. Like northern Japan or Texas, but never where our forces are committed."

"It looks like a Russian experiment," a reporter asked.

Flying Saucers Arrive in Korea, Seen on Radar

SEOUL (CP)—Four U.S. Army airmen Sunday reported seeing a small "white, rounded, delta-shaped object" flying at 60 to 80 miles an hour over Communist territory on the Korean western front.

An official intelligence report said the sighting was made north of Pork Chop and Old Baldy hills where heavy fighting has raged the last few days.

An officer with a front-line division who asked not to be identified by name told The Associated Press that other luminous objects, traveling at super-sonic speeds of 800 miles per hour, had been observed in the Baldy-Pork Chop area and tracked on radar—also within the last few days.

However, the official G-2 report made no mention of these other incidents.

The release said:

"At approximately 1 p.m. today (Sunday) aerial observers in two separate planes flying routine reconnaissance missions, observed a white, rounded, delta-shaped object."

"It was estimated to be five to seven feet in diameter."

"It was travelling between 60 and 80 miles per hour in a vibrating motion. The course of flight was north northeast to south southwest over enemy territory."
Object Seen By 2 Pilots

LONDON (AP)—A huge glowing object described by observers as metallic has been tracked by radar high over England twice this month, the war office disclosed Wednesday night.

Official reports of the sightings were made by members of two army radar crews who estimated the height of the object as 60,000 feet.

The first report came from Sgt. Harry Waller and three other witnesses who were making a test of a radar set for the 256th heavy anti-aircraft regiment in southeast London Nov. 3.

The report said the object was kept in sight for 40 minutes. Then it moved out of range.

"There was a strong echo on the screen, so I looked through the telescope and there it was, just like a tennis ball," Waller told reporters. "It was dead white and completely circular. I couldn't see it with the naked eye.

"The sky that day was very clear and blue with only a few high clouds. The object was stationary for about 15 minutes. Then it started moving off.

NOT A BALLOON

"It couldn't have been a balloon. To get the kind of signal we got it must have been metallic. It must have been huge, because the signal was three or four times as large as that received from the biggest airliner."

A similar report was made Nov. 3 by FO. T. H. Johnson and FO. C. H. Smythe of the RAF. They were at 20,000 feet in a jet airplane, they said, when the object passed far overhead at "tremendous speed."

An air ministry spokesman said every such report is investigated "but we are not prepared to comment on individual reports."

5 PER CENT PUZZLERS

"About 95 per cent are found to be due to natural phenomena," he added. "About the others, the experts can reach no conclusions."

Over London, the object was practically motionless, the war office said, and had an altitude of 61,000 feet. Its slowness excludes a plane and its height, nearly 11½ miles, excludes a helicopter.

The experts say no meteorite or other celestial phenomenon would have shown up in the same way in the radar screen.
U. K. Sky Ball
Just Balloon?

LONDON (AP)—That "huge, glowing metallic object" reported by a military radar team as hovering menacingly over Britain's coastline, probably was just a weather balloon, the air ministry decided Thursday night.

At any rate there was a metal balloon in the area and at the precise time army radar crews spotted a mysterious object, an air ministry spokesman said.

The war office reported Wednesday night the "metallic intruder" had first been seen by FO. T. S. Jonson from the cockpit of a Vampire night fighter. Then Nov. 3 a military radar team plotted the object on their screens, tracing its movements.

These movements corresponded exactly with the passage of the meteorological balloon released that day, the air ministry said.

Snow Hampers Hunt for Jet

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—Snow and low visibility today hampered planes searching for a United States F89 air force jet fighter missing over the bleak waters of Lake Superior since Monday night.

The missing plane with two high-ranking air force officers aboard mysteriously disappeared at 7:55 p.m. after taking off an hour earlier from Kinross air force base south of here.

Kinross officials said the plane, when equipped with two rubber rafts and each officer aboard wore a Mae West life jacket. The men were not identified.

RCAF PLANES ARRIVE

Four DC4s from Trenton and Centralia RCAF bases arrived today to take part in the search. It was expected the weather would clear considerably this afternoon so that the search could get into top gear.

The jet took off at 6:22 p.m. (EST) with about two hours of fuel in the tanks, Kinross spokesman said. It was last noted by radio some 60 miles northeast of the Keweenau peninsula. This would have put the plane somewhere off the forbidding shores of the stormy lake.

A coast guard cutter was hurriedly dispatched to the area Monday night. Air-sea rescue units were alerted. And state police were joined by conservation officers in the widespread hunt along the shoreline.

MAY BE ON LAKE

The coast guard station at Houghton and the St. Ignace state police post reported early today that the fliers were still missing.

The plane was reported to be carrying flotation gear and officials said it might be adrift in Lake Superior. They said they have received two reports that a plane was down in the water.

Planes from the Selfridge field near Detroit joined the search.
PILOT REPORTS 'COLOSSAL SPEED' OF FLYING DISC

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — A veteran Swedish pilot reported sighting a "symmetrical metal object" travelling at a "colossal speed" over southern Sweden Thursday.

The pilot's statement was released by the Swedish defence staff which said it was making a thorough investigation of the report.

The pilot, who fought during the Second World War with the RAF, was Capt. Ulf Christiernsson.

He said he saw the object while flying his DC-3 airliner at about 6,500 feet over Haesleholm. Visibility was good.

"As I got nearer I saw it was completely a symmetrical metal object. It is difficult to find words to describe something one has not seen before, but it looked like a robot."

Capt. Christiernsson said he was absolutely sure it was neither a meteor nor any other sort of celestial body.

Expert Derides Labrador Saucers

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Those flying objects over Labrador were slightly deflated today. A science writer said they are nothing more than "inversions."

Thursday, an experienced Canadian pilot reported seeing a formation of seven aircraft-shaped objects — a "mother" ship and six satellites — over the Atlantic ocean near Labrador. The pilot, 33-year-old Lee Boyd of Fillmore, Saska., said he was sure the things came from another planet.

Today, science expert Chapman Pincher of the Daily Express said what Boyd saw was probably just a reflection of the aircraft from a wavy layer of air. This is Pincher's theory:

"At various levels in the atmosphere there are regions called inversions where the air temperature suddenly changes. Boundaries between layers of warm and cold air are such good mirrors that they cause mirages in the desert."

"Because of the turbulence of the atmosphere, the boundary is sometimes rippled and breaks up an image into several parts which, after reflection, can be seen at eye level."

NOT WORRIED

Pincher supports his argument by noting that the flying objects accompanied Boyd's aircraft for 80 miles, travelling at the same speed and at the same distance; could not be picked up by radar; and repeatedly changed their shape and size the way reflections do in ripply water.

Whatever the explanation, Boyd isn't worried. If they are objects from another world—as he is convinced they are—he figures they won't do any harm to people on this planet. "They probably think we're morons anyhow."

Boyd, co-pilot on a British airliner, sighted the objects Wednesday on a flight from New York to London. The pilot, Capt. James Howard also saw them and made an official report. Thursday night he said he thinks the flying saucers, or whatever they were, looked too solid to be merely reflections of his own aircraft.
Flying "Objects" Intrigue
Veteran Canadian Airman

Something new in flying "objects" has been reported by a veteran Canadian pilot. Francis Lehman Boyd of Fillmore, Sask., said he and fellow crew members of a British airliner observed a "mother" ship and six satellite craft for 20 minutes last Wednesday over the Atlantic near Labrador.

Mr. Boyd's experience may revive some of those flying saucer stories of recent years. Few people had much faith in them, and even those who had observed the phenomena could hardly believe what they had seen. And more than one scientist tried to debunk the "objects" by describing them as meteors or some freak of the weather.

But the veteran pilot's story sounds convincing. He said the things, whatever they were, were intelligently controlled and manoeuvred. And he did not think any science on this planet could produce them.

There was one large ship which "changed shape from time to time" and six smaller craft moving around it. Boyd and his friends had a perfect view. They watched the objects for 18 minutes during which they travelled about 80 miles and all crew members were called to confirm the sight.

Mr. Boyd could rightfully be described as an "expert" witness. He has been trained to observe the sky about him, and he could hardly be fooled off as a crackpot whose eyes had deceived him.

Mr. Boyd's experience is naturally intriguing to most of us. Many people will wonder whether one of the big powers has a new type of aircraft up its sleeve. We have heard and read about flying saucers and "secret weapons" about which no one in authority will speak. Boyd may have had his peek at one of these secrets.

But Mr. Boyd's own surmise that these "ships" had come from some other planet sounds more interesting. If there were "people" aboard, did they come to scout us? Were they friendly or hostile? If they knew about us and our way of life, do they hold us in contempt for our wars, our atomic bombs and our general progress on the ladder of civilization?

If they are friendly and have a civilization superior to ours, we would welcome them as visitors. Perhaps they could tell us a few helpful things that may save us trouble in the future. Perhaps they have had their own atomic bomb wars and could tell us what would actually happen if we started to drop such death-dealing objects.

Mr. Boyd's experience could set us all thinking and wondering about the "visitors" who did not land.
Claims Plane Scouted Object Like Saucer

NORTH BAY (CP) — A nearby West Ferris business man said he saw an RCAF plane make a scouting flight around a mysterious flying object early Sunday.

Harold Pirie said he saw the object, emitting a white light much too bright to be a star, at about 2 a.m. Then the plane came from the direction of the North Bay air base with its running lights flashing, made a complete circle around the stationary object and headed back to its base.

Mr. Pirie said the object later sped off to the south with a tremendous red exhaust and disappeared.

Last week three workmen at the RCAF base said they watched a flying saucer hovering over the base for more than 10 minutes. A few nights later six Hydro workers at Wawa, about 245 miles north of here, said they saw a saucer hovering above the forest for several minutes.

RCAF Confirms Pilot's Report Of Rocket Ship

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Reports from both sides of the Atlantic told Wednesday of a strange flying object seen off the coast of Labrador Tuesday night.

The pilot of a Pan American jet airliner said he thought it might have been a space rocket.

An RCAF report described it as "glowing red and with a vertical tail."

Both sightings lasted 30 seconds and were located about 130 miles east of Labrador.

Capt. Howard Cone was quoted by a Pan American spokesman in London as saying the airliner was at 2,000 feet when the object was sighted moving from south to north "at tremendous speed."

The RCAF report, filed to air defence command at St. Hubert, Que., said the object was moving in a north-to-south direction, exactly opposite from the Pan American sighting.

A United States missile base in Maine said there were no Snark missile firings which would account for the sighting.
Report All Strange Aircraft, Unusual Sightings, Pilots Asked

OTTAWA, Ont.—Canada's civil defense authorities are asking all pilots to make every reasonable effort to report any unusual sightings they might have, and to keep those sightings under surveillance for as long as possible. The Central Indian Regional Voluntary Information System (CIRVIS), which provides comprehensive and confidential information regarding suspected foreign military aircraft, is being monitored around the clock.

The American and Canadian military authorities have been asked to keep a close watch on all reports of strange aircraft, which could potentially be part of the Cold War strategy of surprise attack.

The new plan is called CIRVIS, pronounced "siris." It involves the collection and analysis of information on all types of military aircraft, including those suspected of being involved in possible nuclear attacks. The information is then relayed to the North American Air Defense Command, which will use it to plan its response.

The Canadian authorities have also been asked to coordinate their efforts with those of the U.S. authorities, in order to ensure maximum coverage.

Mystery Object

MUROC, Calif. (AP) — Space agency officials released photographs of a mysterious hand-sized object seen tumbling above the X-15 rocket plane as it streaked to a record 314,750-foot altitude last July 17.

The pictures were released Wednesday after-air force Maj. Robert Rushworth completed a routine X-15 flight to 90,000 feet and told reporters he saw bits of insulation floating between the twin planes of the rocket plane's windshields.

The photographs, taken by a movie camera in the tail of the X-15, show a grey-white object above and behind the spacecraft. They were taken as the plane, piloted by air force Maj. Robert White, reared upward to 270,000 feet on his way to the record.

Officials said they could not positively identify the photographed object as the one seen by White. Rushworth added that he did not believe the particles he saw were the same as the one White reported.

Rushworth was positive the particles were bits of insulating material. "They were not outside the plane," he said. "None of the 15 or 20 particles, Rushworth said, was larger than the end of a cigarette.

Track Seven Objects Flying over Superior

HOUGHTON (UPI) — Personnel at the U.S. Air Force radar base on the Keweenaw Peninsula today reported "solid radar contact" with 7 to 10 unidentified flying objects moving in a "V" formation over Lake Superior Wednesday.

The objects were moving out of the southwest and were heading north-northeast at about 2,000 miles per hour, the men said. They were at an altitude of 5,200 to 17,000 feet.

One of the men at the base said three other radar stations—in North Dakota, Minnesota and Luther Air Station in Canada—also reported spotting the objects. He said the Luther Air Station reported electronic jamming of its radar.

Seven other objects were spotted over Duluth and jet interceptors gave chase, he said, but could not maintain the speed of the UFO's and were easily outdistanced.

The radar personnel, Air Force enlisted men, asked that their names not be disclosed.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A pilot says he saw a huge fireball last Tuesday night in the vicinity of the main power line from here to Niagara Falls, moments after the power failure in the northeastern United States and Ontario.

Weldon Ross of Syracuse, an employee of the Carrier Corp. and a part-time instructor-pilot, told the Syracuse Herald-American he and a student were approaching Hancock Field here "when the lights went out" Tuesday night.

"We were over the high line which runs from Clay to Niagara Falls when we saw the fire flash. It looked like a barn fire, a barn full of hay and it lasted for perhaps 10 seconds."

The New York Power Authority has two 345,000-volt lines that run from Niagara Falls to the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. station in nearby Clay.

After the blackout, early reports said that it was possible the failure began at Clay but Niagara Mohawk officials had said their investigation indicated the Clay station was operating normally.
Flying Object Gets Governor's Pursuit

The governor ordered his airplane pilots to give chase, but the unidentified flying object's lights winked out and it disappeared—upward bound—as Burns' Convair bore down on it.

So says Burns, his assistant, a highway patrol captain and four newspaper men who were flying with the governor to Tallahassee from a re-election campaign session at Orlando Monday night. The sighting was at 8,000 feet over Ocala.

"I much prefer to let the newspaper representatives be quoted," he said Tuesday. "I will confirm that I saw the same unidentified flying object they have alluded to in their writings."

Don Meiklejohn of The Times placed the sighting at 9:32 p.m.

ELT Monday and said "I first became aware of something when Governor Burns shouted "It's a UFO!"

Meiklejohn's timecheck was about 90 minutes after the flash of a vivid fireball, described by scientists as a meteor, excited thousands from the Carolinas to Toronto and as far, west as Ohio.

BURNS ORDERS CHASE

"Governor Burns ordered the pilots to 'turn into it.' The plane turned to the right and as it did the light pulled ahead quickly and began to rise steeply. It disappeared, as one of the pilots said, 'like someone turned off the juice.'"

Bill Mansfield of The Herald said the lights "generally followed the flight of the governor's plane although there were some definite changes of brightness.

Burns' executive assistant, Frank Stockton, estimated the distance the lights travelled with the plane as "at least 40 miles."

Co-pilot Herb Bates said he radioed air traffic control at Miami and was told it had the Burns plane on radar but nothing resembling the object as Bates described it.
UFO Sighting in France

PARIS (Reuters) - Mysteries mount in Western Europe as the era of falling saucers and strange lights in the skies' begins to pass. A French official said early today that a bright object traveling fast over the country had been spotted. The official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the object was described as a bright light with a red outline. It was traveling at an estimated speed of 300 miles per hour.

Airline pilots flying over the Alps in the early morning saw a similar object. It was described as a glowing orange light, moving at a high altitude. The object was seen by several pilots, and witnesses on the ground reported hearing a loud noise.

In Switzerland, another bright object was reported. It was seen by several people near the Eiger mountain. The object appeared to be moving at a high speed, and it was described as a brilliant orange light.

The reports are being investigated by the French authorities, who have set up a special task force to look into the sightings. The task force is made up of experts from various fields, including astronomy, physics, and ufology.

The reports are causing concern among some people, who are calling for more research to be done. Some are worried that the sightings could be a sign of an extraterrestrial visit.

UFO Reports On Weekend

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) - ARGENTINA - UFO watchers in Argentina were treated to a spectacular display in the skies above Buenos Aires on Saturday night. The watchers reported seeing a large number of unidentified flying objects, including saucers and lights, in the sky over the city.

The watchers reported seeing a large number of objects, including saucers and lights, in the sky over the city. The objects were reported to be moving at high speeds, and they were seen by several people.

The watchers were excited by the display, and they said it was the most spectacular display of UFOs they had ever seen. They said they were not sure what the objects were, but they believed they were extraterrestrial in origin.

The watchers' reports are being investigated by the local authorities, who are setting up a special task force to look into the sightings. The task force is made up of experts from various fields, including astronomy, physics, and ufology.

The watchers are hoping that the investigations will lead to a better understanding of the phenomenon and that they will be able to learn more about the objects they saw in the skies over Buenos Aires.
Pilot Reports Sighting UFO At Whitefish

WHITEFISH — Two Whitefish area residents reported the sighting of an unidentified flying object, better-known as an UFO, as they were preparing for bed Sunday night.

Everett Makela, of Grassy Lake Rd., Louise township, near Whitefish, said he had just tuned off the television set at 10 p.m. when he looked out the window and saw "A big red object" in the Western sky.

"It was brightly lit and once you saw it, you'd know it was something out of the ordinary," he said.

WAS CIRCLING

"The sky was clear and you could see the stars. You couldn't compare it with a falling star for it circled up and down very slowly," he added.

After watching the object for a couple of minutes, he had his wife bring him a pair of binoculars for a better look.

"It seemed to be an oval dish shape with dozens of little jets along the edge. I could actually see the flames." Makela recounted. "It was very, very bright red."

It stayed in view for about 10 minutes before disappearing below the horizon. He estimated it had been hovering about two miles from his residence.

The Whitefish resident is a pilot himself and owns an aircraft repair service.

IN SIGHTINGS

A spokesman for Canadian Forces Base Falconbridge reported the base had no sightings listed in that area nor was any aircraft logged for that time near Whitefish.

However, Rev. Roger Leclaire, of the Laurentian University astronomy department said from what he could make of the description and time of the occurrence, the most likely candidate for the UFO was the planet Venus.

"Right now Venus is the brightest object in the sky outshining everything except the sun and moon," he said.

He pointed out it would have been setting below the horizon in the same general direction and the same time as the UFO was spotted.

NORAD sends two fighters on UFO hunt

SUDBURY (CP) -- Two U.S. Air National Guard jet fighters were sent to this area to check for unidentified flying objects spotted by radar, operators did not find anything, a NORAD spokesman in North Bay said yesterday.

The spokesman said the two jet fighters were sent from the NORAD base at Selfridge, Mich., Tuesday after radar sightings by staff of the Canadian Forces base at nearby Falconbridge. Several area police also saw four objects described as bright white lights.

Another UFO sighting was reported last night by two Sudbury regional policemen on patrol, but Falconbridge would not say whether the objects had been tracked off radar.

Alaska radar, pilot spots speedy UFO

ANCHORAGE (AP) — Unidentified flying objects have been reported over the Chugach Mountains slightly east of here by a Northwest Orient Airlines crew and a radar approach controller at Anchorage International Airport.

Cliff Cernick, U.S. Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) spokesman, said Friday that one of the controllers reported that on April 23 he saw "four blips which gyrated on his radarscope in an unusual manner."

"The controller, Terry Siegrest, saw the blips settle downwards, and then move across the scope at a rapid rate of speed," Cernick said.

Siegrest said the objects first appeared about 30 miles from Anchorage, moving slowly and eventually stopping completely. When they resumed movement, he said, they picked up speed and "zipped off to the east."

Harry Fluharty relieved Siegrest after the radar sightings. He said a Northwest Orient pilot reported that he saw a single bright object at 60,000 feet moving at a migratory rate of speed.

NO TRACE OF YOUNG PILOT AFTER REPORTING APPROACH OF UFO

MELBOURNE (AP) — Boats and aircraft have found no trace of a young pilot and flying-saucer enthusiast who disappeared with his plane after radioing he was being chased by an unidentified flying object (UFO).

The Australian Air Force said it has received 11 reports of UFO sightings from people along the coast of Bass Strait where the plane disappeared Saturday night.

The pilot, Frederick Valentich, 20, was on a 200-kilometre training flight when he told air traffic controllers in Melbourne he was being buzzed by a UFO with four bright lights about 300 metres above him.

Controllers said in his last message, taped in Melbourne, he radioed: "It's approaching from due east towards me. It seems to be playing some sort of game. Flying at a speed I can't estimate."

"It's not an aircraft. It's a flying object. It is a long shape, I cannot identify more than that. It's coming for me right now."

SEES LIGHTS

A minute later he reported: "It seems to be stationary. I'm also orbiting and the thing is orbiting on top of me also. It has a green light and a sort of metallic light on the outside."

Valentich then radioed the engine of his single-engine Cessna 182 was running roughly. His last message said: "It is not an aircraft."

Valentich's father, Guza, said he hopes his son has been taken by a UFO and has not crashed.

"The fact that they have found no trace of him really verifies the fact that UFOs could have been there," he said.

Valentich said his son used to study UFOs "as a hobby using information he had received from the air force.

"He was not the kind of person who would make up stories. Everything had to be very correct and positive for him."

Valentich then radioed the engine of his single-engine Cessna 182 was running roughly. His last message said: "It is not an aircraft."

Despite calls from other persons along the coast who say they saw a UFO Saturday night, the transport department was skeptical that a UFO was behind Valentich's disappearance.

Pilot reports UFO, then vanishes

MELBOURNE (UPI) — "It isn't an aircraft. It's

Moments after pilot Frederick Valentich told an Australian control tower an unidentified flying object with four green lights was chasing him, radio transmission was cut off, and nothing more was heard from the 20-year-old pilot or his single-engine Cessna 182.

A full-scale search by the Australian air force resumed today for the plane — and its lone occupant — whose last known position was over the Bass Strait, 130 miles (208 kilometres) south of Melbourne.

Transport department spokesman Kenneth William said Valentich radioed Melbourne Flight Service Control Saturday at 7:06 p.m. and reported a UFO was following him at 4,500 feet.

He described his pursuer as "a green light and sort of metallic light on the outside."

Ground control said there was no air traffic in the area below 5,000 feet. Valentich disagreed.

"It has four bright lights — appear to be landing lights. Aircraft has just passed over me about 1,000 feet above."

"Can you identify the aircraft," control asked.

"It isn't an aircraft. It's..." Then silence.

Two minutes later, Valentich's voice rasped over the radio again.

"Melbourne, it's approaching from due east toward me... It seems to be playing some sort of game... Flying at a speed I cannot estimate... It is flying past... It is a long shape... Cannot identify more than that... Coming for me right now... It seems to be stationary... I'm orbiting (circling) and the thing is orbiting on top of me also... It has a green light and sort of metallic light on the outside."

Suddenly, Valentich reported his engine was "choking."

Metallic scratching replaced the pilot's voice. Then there was no sound at all.

When the aircraft did not arrive at King Island on schedule, investigators began an air search, but found no sign of the aircraft.
Australians probing pilot’s report of UFO

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australian authorities were trying to determine yesterday whether an oil slick spotted in the sea south of here came from a light plane that vanished after its pilot radioed that a large object hovering above him was not an aircraft.

Frederick Valenti, 20, was on a short, solo flight from Melbourne to King Island across the Bass Strait when he disappeared Saturday evening.

Air traffic controllers on the mainland reported he radioed at 7:06 p.m. that he could see four bright lights about 1,000 feet above him that appeared to be the landing lights of a large aircraft.

He asked whether any military aircraft were in the area and was told there were not.

Two minutes later, at 7:08, he radioed: “It is approaching from due east toward me. It seems to be playing some sort of game... flying at a speed I cannot estimate.”

At 7:09 he radioed: “It is not an aircraft. It’s...” and radio contact was lost briefly. He was asked to identify the object.

“It is flying past. It is a long shape. I cannot identify more than that. It’s coming for me right now,” he said.

At 7:10 he said: “It seems to be stationary. I’m orbiting and the thing is orbiting on top of me also. It has a green light and a sort of metallic light on the outside.”

A few minutes later he reported that his plane’s engine was idling roughly and coughing.

His last words before radio contact was lost permanently were: “It is not an aircraft.”

Air traffic controllers reported they then heard a noise on the radio.

TV station claims film of UFO

MELBOURNE (AP) — An Australian television station says it has filmed an unidentified flying object over New Zealand.

An official at the station said yesterday the film, purchased by the British Broadcasting Co. and the CBS television network, was made Saturday. CBS said it would show the film on its news show tonight.

The official, George Wilson, said: “An oval-shaped object with three bands around it can be seen clearly. At one stage the film crew saw 25 of these objects.”

The film was made at the direction of a reporter who was investigating a UFO report by a New Zealand airline pilot.

Wilson said the reporter “saw objects everywhere about him,” and described them as being “lights in the sky which tracked and followed the aircraft.”

Wilson said flight control at Wellington airport confirmed objects other than airplanes had appeared on radar screens at the time the seven-minute sequence was filmed.
New Zealand interceptors ready for UFOs but experts skeptical

From AP-REUTER

AUCKLAND (CP) — Experts pooh-poohed a TV crew's claim that it filmed a swarm of UFOs amid a rash of reports of additional sightings today in Australia and New Zealand.

However, the New Zealand Royal Air Force put a squadron of fighters on standby alert to chase any more suspicious sky travellers that show up.

The Australian defence department said it was notified of 12 UFO sightings since the reported filmings Saturday, but was not taking them seriously.

"At least 12 policemen said they saw a bright blue object tracing a random flight for three hours over Australia's east coast early today. Its colour slowly changed to red. "We've got a UFO sighting and we're not kidding," one patrolman said.

A Melbourne couple said they were followed in their car Sunday by an egg-shaped object with spotlights shining out.

"We have now recorded sightings by six pilots on three aircraft for 10 days and a host of radar sightings," said Geoff Cusay, an air traffic controller at the Wellington, New Zealand, airport.

"There is obviously some strange phenomenon and it needs to be investigated." David Martin, head of the New Zealand's Mount John Observatory, said the unidentified objects were about the same size as the planet Venus which is currently at its brightest and can be seen about 12 hours a day.

MAY BE VENUS

"From a moving aircraft or from a car, it could appear to be moving at the same speed because of the great distance." Sir Bernard Lovett, a leading British astronomer, told London newspapers the sightings probably were meteors that failed to burn up on entering the atmosphere.

The Australian TV film was shown in the United States on Monday night's CBS Evening News.

Afterward, UFO expert Allen Hynek of Northwestern University told CBS: "This is certainly one of the best, if not the best, purported UFO films I've seen.

"I'm cautioning us to be wary of it simply because it doesn't fit a general pattern. It is a nocturnal light, and light seen in the night sky can't be caused by a great many things." Quentin Fogarty, a reporter for a Melbourne TV station, said his crew filmed the UFOs for seven minutes Saturday night from a plane over Kaikoura, in the eastern region of New Zealand's South Island.

"There were bright globules of light pulsating and expanding and lighting up the foreshore and town of Kaikoura," he said. "We got frightened when Wellington radar control told us we had one on our tail. Then it was joined by five more . . ."

Fogarty said that as the objects came closer he saw that one was saucer-shaped with a dome on top and another was egg-shaped with white lights moving around it.

"The whole feeling was that we were in their domain. They seemed in control and aware we were filming. I don't think they were going to harm us."

New Zealand on alert for UFOs

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — The Royal New Zealand Air Force ordered an alert yesterday after a television news team filmed what they said was an unidentified flying object. Aviation authorities reported the UFO apparently was tracked by radar as well.

The air force put a Skyhawk jet fighter on special standby alert to chase any newly sighted UFOs.

A television station in Melbourne, Australia, said it had film of a UFO taken Saturday night by a camera team flying over the Kaikoura area in the eastern region of New Zealand's South Island.

The television team, led by reporter Quentin Fogarty, was investigating a UFO report by a New Zealand airline pilot at the time the film was made.

About the same time the TV crew reported seeing the UFO, an unidentified radar blip showed up on screens operated by the civil aviation staff in Wellington, New Zealand, aviation officials said.

Capt. Bill Startup, pilot of the plane carrying the TV crew, said he spotted "a very bright white light" that moved around his Argosy aircraft.

Capt. Startup, a pilot for 22 years, said that when he first noticed the object it was about 20 miles in front of his plane.

"It appeared to stay still until we got within 10 miles, then it turned with us as it changed course," he said.

"It then went above us and circled and came down beneath us. It was making definite movements in relation to us." An air traffic controller in Wellington identified only as A. Cusay said: "We now have recorded sightings by six pilots on three Argosy aircraft over 10 days and a host of radar sightings.

There is obviously some strange phenomenon and it needs to be investigated." The film of the purported UFO has been bought by the British Broadcasting Co. and the CBS television network for an undisclosed amount. CBS said it would show the film on its nightly news show.
Our jets scramble after UFOs

By Joe Hall Toronto Star

WASHINGTON—Canadian jet fighters "scrambled" at least twice in one week in an attempt to intercept unidentified flying objects, it was confirmed last night.

The incidents were revealed in previously top-secret documents released in Washington by the U.S. Air Force and the defense department. They were confirmed by a National Research Council official in Ottawa.

The U.S. and Canadian reports said the UFOs were seen near a top-secret Canadian military installation and hovering over a number of nuclear missile launch sites and bomber bases in the United States.

U.S. and Canadian military personnel reported mysterious craft visiting the North American Air Defense Command (Norad) base at North Bay, Ont., and defense bases along the Canadian border in Montana, Michigan and Maine, the records show.

On radar

The sightings, both visually and on radar, at North Bay were described by Dr. Bruce McIntosh of the National Research Council's Herzberg Institute of Astrophysics in Ottawa.

All the sightings were reported in the last few days of October and first few weeks of November, 1978.

The U.S. government records describe the intruders variously as helicopters, aircraft, unknown entities and brightly lighted, fast-moving vehicles that hovered over nuclear weapons storage areas and evaded all pursuit efforts.

The U.S. air force sent fighter planes and airborne command planes aloft on unsuccessful pursuit missions. The released records do not indicate whether the fighters fired on the intruders.

McIntosh said that on the night of Nov. 5, 1978, apparent targets were spotted on the radar at North Bay — part of a chain.

of command centres on permanent alert to warn of air attacks on North America. Canadian interceptors were scrambled later that morning when the targets remained on the radar screen. Nothing was found, McIntosh said.

The U.S. records show that several sightings were made in the same period at Loring Air Force base in Maine of objects hovering over the weapons area.

Radar and visual sightings were made and a KC-135 tanker plane took off to oversee pursuit efforts by a helicopter from the Maine National Guard.

The object disappeared toward the Canadian border where Canadian jets were waiting on alert, the records show.

There was no indication in the records that the Canadian planes spotted any craft.

There was a rash of UFO reports in Canada during the first week in November, 1978, from Newfoundland to British Columbia.

McIntosh's office gets about 200 UFO reports a year from across the country. His planetary science office is concerned primarily with sightings of meteors but a UFO file has been kept since 1962.

Lack of evidence

McIntosh says he is not a believer in space ships piloted by alien beings 'because there is just not enough concrete evidence.'

"If I were a gambling man, I would not place any money on it. But there are lots of things we cannot explain. I would bet the happiest guy in the world if one landed in my backyard. Now that would be proof positive."

The U.S. records show that two days after the North Bay incident, at Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana, Capt. Thomas O'Brien was coming off duty as a missile launch officer when, he said, an aircraft resembling a helicopter approached the silo area.

"He and his deputy heard what they thought was a helicopter rotor over the building where they were resting."

The unidentified deputy looked out the window and saw the silhouette of a large aircraft hovering about 10 to 15 feet above the ground and about 25 feet from the launch-area fence.

He reported seeing red and white lights on the front, a white light on the bottom and another on the rear.

Darkness prevented him from seeing markings or personnel on the craft which left after a minute or so of hovering.

Lights reported

Military crews at two other nearby launch facilities reported moving lights in the air on the same evening.

McIntosh said one explanation for whatever was spotted on the North Bay radar was that on a clear night a high density of ice crystal layers in the sky could reflect radar beams onto aircraft over the horizon, not normally picked up on radar.

"I looked at the situation at the time — not very thoroughly I must admit — and I talked to the officer on duty at NORAD and satisfied myself that it was a coincidence (the radar sightings) and the UFO," McIntosh reported.

"Venus at some times in the year is 10 times brighter than any star and often seems out of place, "sticking out like a sore thumb," McIntosh said.

Having seen targets on the radar, the officer probably went outside expecting to see something in the sky, he added.

Defence department officials in Washington said yesterday that formal investigation of unidentified flying objects ended in 1969 and there are no plans to restart the probe, which went under the code name Operation Blue Book.
Crew and passengers reported seeing UFO

MOSCOW (AP) — Amazed crew and passengers on a Soviet airliner say they saw a star-like unidentified flying object beam a thin ray on the ground, suddenly turn its dazzling light on the aircraft and — just as abruptly — become a green cloud that "escorted" the plane, a newspaper reports.

Gennady Lazurin, copilot of the Aeroflot flight, told an air controller in Minsk about the sighting and was told at first that nothing could be seen on ground radar, the newspaper said.

"Oh well, they'll be saying we're not normal," Lazurin was quoted as saying.

But then, ground control "registered splashes on its screens in the same part of air space," Trud said. The date of the flight was not given.

Nikolai Zheltukhin, a corresponding member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences and deputy chairman of a state commission on unexplained phenomena, told Trud the occurrence "is indeed of interest, although the commission already knows of similar cases."

"That the object reversed course instantaneously and reached the ground with a ray of light of unusual intensity from a very high altitude is undoubtedly abnormal," Zheltukhin was quoted as saying.

The plane was flying northwest from the Georgian capital of Tbilisi to Tallinn in Estonia and was approaching Minsk when "what appeared to be a large, unblinking star suddenly shed a thin ray of light which fell plumb down on the ground" from an altitude of 40 to 48 kilometres, the newspaper said.

Chased UFOs

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Multicolored UFOs the size of ping-pong balls were seen over Brazil and fighter jets were sent to chase them, the air force minister said. The objects "saturated our radar system," Brig.-Gen. Otavio Moreira Lima said.

They were reported flying at about 1,350 kilometres an hour and the fighters tracked them for almost three hours before turning back when they started to run out of fuel. "I can't give an explanation for this because we don't have any," Moreira Lima said.
U.S. officials reopen their probe into pilot’s report of UFO incident

ANCHORAGE (AP) - The U.S. Federal Aviation Administration is reopening its investigation into an incident in which an apparent UFO dogged a Japan Airlines cargo jet across Alaska's night sky for almost an hour last November.

"We looked at it about six weeks ago, but since then we've gotten a lot of public interest, so we went back and re-interviewed the pilot," FAA spokesman Paul Steucke said Sunday.

The veteran pilot, Kenji Terauchi, told investigators that the large UFO showed up on his cockpit weather radar. But images on military radar screens at the time were dismissed as "clutter," and a blip that showed up on FAA screens was analysed as a coincidental "split image" of the aircraft, Steucke said.

Radar tapes, transcribed interviews and radio messages are to be sent to the FAA in Washington, D.C., later this week for review, Steucke said.

As Flight 1628 — a Boeing 747 flew at 35,000 feet into Alaska from Canada, just northeast of Fort Yukon, Terauchi told investigators he saw three lights 13 kilometres in front of his aircraft.

The pilot reported the lights were yellow, amber and green, Steucke said, but not red, the international color for aircraft beacons.

"He flew for about six minutes before he decided to report anything," Steucke said. "I can't say I blame him for that."

Terauchi radioed Anchorage FAA air controllers, who direct all aircraft traffic in the state, except for planes near airports, Steucke said.

Fairbanks controllers checked their screens but saw only Flight 1628, Steucke said.

The pilot reported the object was staying with him and controllers told him to take any evasive action needed. Terauchi decreased altitude to 31,000 feet, but the lights went down with him "in formation," Steucke said.

South of Fairbanks, Terauchi turned the plane in a complete circle to see if the lights would follow.

"That was pretty clever," Steucke said. "It allowed him to eliminate any natural phenomenon which would have stayed stationary."

The lights stayed with the cargo jet, and moved to its left side, the pilot told the FAA.

The lights vanished, heading east, when the JAL jet was about 130 kilometres north of Anchorage, Steucke said.

Hungary sees high-speed UFO

BUDAPEST (Reuters) - Hungary's Defence Ministry has investigated the sighting of a high-speed Unidentified Flying Object over a military airport, newspapers reported Monday.

Officers at the Kecskemet base south of Budapest said the object flew silently above the runway last Friday at a height of about 180 metres trailing a 70-metre exhaust flame.

Defence Ministry spokesman Gyorgy Keleti told the official MTI news agency that the object was undetected by radar.

"I do not believe in UFOs but I have no reason to doubt what my fellow officers say," he added after visiting the base.

Lieut. Gabor Toth said he saw the object, about 23 metres long, from the base's control tower and was certain that it was not an aircraft.

It was sighted two minutes later at Bekescsaba, 110 kilometres west of Kecskemet, which would mean it was travelling at 3,380 kilometres an hour.
Close encounter of the weird kind baffles British aviation authority

Year-long inquiry finds no explanation of UFO that buzzed airliner

BY DAVID WALLEN
Special to The Globe and Mail

LONDON — After a year-long formal inquiry, British aviation experts admit they are baffled by a close encounter between a passenger jet and an unidentified flying object on an approach to Manchester Airport.

The Civil Aviation Authority said yesterday it can find no logical explanation for the UFO, which apparently buzzed the British Airways Boeing 737 with 60 people on board last January at the 4,000-foot level of its descent on a flight from Milan.

Captain Roger Wills, 35, said a wedge-shaped UFO, emblazoned with small white lights, came so close to his jet that co-pilot Mark Stuart ducked.

The object also was spotted from the ground, yet never appeared on radar screens. It made no attempt to deviate and passed very quickly down the right side of the aircraft. It made no sound and created no wind turbulence.

The incident happened at 6:48 p.m. on Jan. 6, 1995, with the aircraft just above the clouds and visibility at least 16 kilometres.

Air traffic controllers had the following conversation with Flight 5061:
B373: “We just had something go down the right-hand side, just above us, very fast.”
Manchester ATC: “Well there’s nothing seen on radar. Was it an aircraft?”
B373: “Well it had lights, it went down the starboard side very quick.”

British aviation body calls UFO ‘a mystery’

Both the captain and co-pilot were convinced the object was not a balloon, model aircraft, kite or even a stealth aircraft. Captain Wills said he had seen a stealth before and thought he would have recognized it.

Suggestions that the object might have been a reflection from a cloud or even a secret U.S. spy craft also have been discounted.

The CAA’s Joint Airmiss Working Group said in its report, published yesterday, that it cannot explain the incident, confirming there was nothing else on the radar screens apart from the jet in that position at that time. It concluded that it was “not possible to suggest either the cause or the risk” of the incident. “The reported object remains untraced.”

The report praised the crew for telling their story in the face of possible derision from colleagues.

“It’s all a bit of a mystery,” a Civil Aviation Authority spokesman said. “There was a similar case about three years ago involving Alitalia and it was not possible to explain that one, either.”

On the ground, Mark Lloyd was near the airport and says he saw the object, too.

“There was like a glint in the sky and, as I looked, I could see this triangular-shaped object hovering quite high up and it had depth to it,” he said. “It was rounded off at the back end and appeared to have something like back burners.” He described a black line down the side and a triangular-shaped window.

When Mr. Lloyd told his girlfriend what he had seen, she said he was “talking a load of codswallop.”

Later, he telephoned the airport and was put through to the control tower.

Mr. Lloyd said yesterday he was relieved that the official report backed his version with the words of the air crew.

While the incident has baffled aviation experts, it has delighted UFO enthusiasts. The word of pilots, they said, might give some credibility to their favourite subject.

“Now that the CAA have actually come out with a statement saying it was unidentifed, we shall go straight back to them and try and get them to say more,” said Eric Morrison, one of Britain’s leading exponents of UFOs and extraterrestrials.

One of the best authenticated UFO sightings was made by the crew of one of the Apollo space missions, when an object tracked the spacecraft for some minutes before moving off at high speed. The astronauts told Houston they were being tailed, adding: “We’ll assume it’s friendly.”
Pilots spot mile-wide UFO close to Alderney

Air traffic control receive two independent reports

BRITAIN'S X-File detectives are to investigate the sighting of a mile-wide UFO near Alderney earlier this week.

The pilot and co-pilot gave U.S. investigators different descriptions of the object that passed about 45 metres from the Boeing 747 after it had taken off from Philadelphia on Aug. 9.

The pilot told the U.S. National Transportation Safety Board that the object was long and wingless, but the copilot said it was more spherical, Swissair spokesman Erwin Schaefer said.
